Building at Loring and Westford Streets Taken Over by Government

New Highlands Station to Be Opened on Earliest Possible Date

A store in the building at the corner of Loring and Westford streets has been leased by the postoffice department for a period of ten years from Fred Jeppeff of Lawrence, for the location of the Highlands postal station, according to information received by Postmaster Dellese from the postmaster-general's office in Washington, today.

The store is located just around the corner from Westford street, the corner location being occupied by a bakery. The site is considered excellent for the postal station, as it is in the heart of the section. It is in service. Federal Inspectors, with Postmaster Dellese went over the Highlands area.

New St. Patrick's Rectory Blessed Today With Impressive Ceremonial

THE NEW ST. PATRICK'S RECTORY WHICH WAS BLESSED WITH IMPRESSIVE EXERCISES THIS MORNING

Exercises at Conclusion of Solemn High Mass—Pastor Deeply Moved by Testimonial of Esteem—Eloquent Sermon on St. Patrick by Rev. Andrew McGuire, C. P.

Historic St. Patrick's in the "Acre"—the oldest Catholic parish in the city—entered upon a new era of advancement this morning when the magnificent new rectory at the corner of Suffolk and Cross streets, ground for which was broken one year ago today, was blessed with impressive ceremonial in the presence of several hundred faithful parishioners.

The exercises attendant upon the blessing took place at the conclusion of a solemn high mass, celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. McGarry, C. P., assisted by Rev. Joseph A. Curtin as deacon; Rev. Thomas J. McDonough, as gift of $5000 sub-deacon, and Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., as master of ceremonies. At the mass an eloquent and inspiring sermon in masterly style by Rev. Andrew McGuire, C. P., of St. Gabriel's monastery, Brighton, The music of the mass was rendered by the church choir, which sang St. Cecilia's mass by Turner under the direction of Organist Michael J. Johnson.

The solo were sustained by Mrs. James Morris, Miss Frances Tighe, John McNabb and Timothy Flanagan.

A truly genuine surprise in connection with the rectory blessing greeted the reverend pastor when he entered the chapel of the new structure and found on the altar an envelope with the inscription: "A testimonial of our esteem and affection for our beloved pastor and a pledge of our support in all his undertakings, from the people of St. Patrick's parish." The envelope contained $500, Inc. McGarry was deeply moved by the appreciative act of the people.

An unidentified man, aged about 55 years and of Greek descent, died at St. John's hospital shortly before noon today, of injuries received when struck by a Lowell bound Reading-Lowell electric car on Rogers street, near its junction with Nesmith, at 7 o'clock this morning.

From letters in the coat of the dead man, it is believed his name is Thomas Angelopoulos. Two letters were found, both addressed in Greek to this name, one to 285 Moody street and the other to 105 Suffolk street. Listed in the 1924 directory as residing at 388 Moody street is one Thomas Angelopoulos, an

SERMON ON ST. PATRICK

Rev. A. G. Madden of St. Michael's Eulogizes Erin's Patron Saint

An elegant and inspiring panegyric on St. Patrick, the apostle of Ireland, was delivered by Rev. Aloysius G. Madden at the high mass in St. Michael's church yesterday. Taking as his subject: "St. Patrick—Lender," Fr. Madden brilliantly narrated the various events in the life of Ireland's patron saint; or selected by the Jews. "The Gentiles shall come from the east and the west and recline at the table with Ishah and Jacob, but the children of the kingdom shall be cast out."

Quoting Cardinal Manning in opening, the speaker said that with the exception of St. Paul, no saint has done so much for the Catholic church as St. Patrick. Continuing, he said: "History repeats itself. Christ early in His public ministry gathered a few not over learned individuals around him. He made them the custodians of His truth. He sent them forth to preach the gospel of love to all creatures. He had come unto His own and they had received Him not. The Jews—His chosen people rejected Him—they were even guilty of killing Him, and new peoples were to rise up to take the places abandoned in heaven."

"It is with this apostle that Cardinal Manning compares our own apostle, St. Patrick, when he says: 'With the exception of St. Paul, no saint has done so much for the Catholic church as St. Patrick, apostle of Ireland.'

"After Christ had ascended to His heavenly Father, the little band of apostles began their conquest of souls. In the midst of their beginnings, a new apostle—called out of due time—joined their ranks. He was St. Paul, an intrepid and zealous convert to Christianity. For years he worked untiringly among the Gentiles, and won numberless souls to the church, so that at his death he could say, 'I have fought the good fight, I have kept the faith' by the end of the fourth century.

The little Isle of Erin had not, however, felt its saving grace. The faith had fallen on the shoulders of Patrick, then a lad of 16 years, was left there a prisoner. Strange and wonderful are the workings of God! He had won St. Paul from a Jewish zealot by a miracle of pain and suffering, and now in the heart of a youth of 16, He plants in suffering the seeds of a future great leader. He is snatched from a home of ease and comfort and made to suffer in the bleak hills. In hunger and thirst, in nakedness and cold, this follower of Christ is made to live. How well was born out in Patrick those words of His Master: 'He who would come after Me, must take up his cross daily and follow Me.' Truly the cross of Christ had fallen on the shoulders of Patrick.

"How well he did rule as the spiritual leader of a great people is shown by his future life. After escaping from his servitude, he studied for the priesthood and was ordained by St. Germaine. Later he was consecrated bishop and sent by Pope Celestine as apostle to Ireland.

"Thus was bequeathed to the Irish

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN G. A. R. VETERAN

Large Attendance at Funeral in South Boston of Former Lowell Priest

Clergy Present From All Parts of the Diocese—Lowell Delegation

With prominent members of the clergy from all parts of the diocese in attendance, together with a large delegation of sorrowing parishioners and friends, including a delegation from St. Columba's church of this city, the funeral of Rev. Thomas W. Buckley, former curate at St. Columba's, took place with solemn services in the church of St. Vincent de Paul, South Boston, at 10 o'clock this morning.

Right Rev. Bishop Joseph G. Anderson presided. The solemn high funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Florence McCarthy, assisted by Rev. Joseph Bonner as deacon, Rev. James Shinn

Bishop Joseph G. Anderson presided. The solemn high funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. Florence McCarthy, assisted by Rev. Joseph Bonner as deacon, Rev. James Shinn

Rev. Clark L. Paddock officiating. Burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery. The Arton company members were summoned to the town hall at 3:30 o'clock in the morning. Every member responded. Four-horse wagons equipped with old-fashioned settees were hastily secured, and the Arton volunteers, 60 strong and led by Capt. Daniel Taitt, a prosperous farmer and patriotic citizen, drove over the country roads to Chelmsford and thence to Lowell, where the Arton men reported to their regimental commander, Colonel Jones, shortly before 6 o'clock. It was actually the first military company of the "Old Sixth" to report at headquarters on that historic day.

The trip through Baltimore on April 13 is history. Comrade Ames passed through the Maryland city without a scratch, although several of his comrades fell in the battle with rebellious southern sympathizers.

In later years, Mr. Ames conducted a large sugar and coffee plantation in Central America, returning to South Africa about 30 years ago. He was a charter member of Post 10, G.A.R., of West Arton. He never married and his nearest relative is a nephew, Fred L. Robbins, now in China.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors and especially the Methodist mill, for their acts of kindness during our spiritual offerings during the period of our bereavement in the sickness and death of our mother and sister, Mrs. Alice McMahon Conerton. We deeply appreciate the kindly efforts and will ever hold them in loving remembrance.

MRS. ALICE MCGARIBHON.

CHRISTOPHER CONERTON.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD McMAHON, laying the foundation of what is now a flourishing parish. And today there is sadness in many homes there on account of the kind and loving ministrations of this good priest of God.

In St. Columba's parish, he was sent here to live by his church, South Boston, and what he did here you know only too well.

His work among your boys, especially the St. Vincent's Cadets, and his interest in the married ladies' sodality is fresh in your minds.

You saw Father Buckley perform his dutiful day after day, you saw him as the latter, you saw him in the confessional, you saw him instructing the children, you saw him with the Cross and all the observation you may have enjoyed, you never understood the motive that prompted this good priest to work as earnestly and unselfishly as he did. It was the great motive that brought Our Divine Lord into the world. That motive was to give honor to our Father in heaven and to render service to our fellow man here on earth.

The occasion that brings us together today is a sad one. Friends and people have assembled in this church with sad hearts. Thousands have passed around the altar with tear-dimmed eyes to pay the last tribute of respect to a faithful servant of God.

In death, however, there is always a reassuring feature, there is always a occasion for sadness and rejoicing.

But no matter how we look upon it, there is a sorrow with death, especially when the angel of death invades the sanctuary and takes from it one of God's anointed; and today we stand silently and mournfully about that we know not formed and his earthly robes, but have more to be seen ministering at God's altar.

If there was one characteristic more than another in the life of Father Buckley it was his love of solitude, his aversion to publicity in any shape or form and his utter reluctance to speak about himself.

He was in the parish of St. Mary's, West Springfield, 36 years ago, of Christening that fearing parents, a graduate of the schools of that city, he entered Boston college, from which he graduated in 1869.

He then entered St. John's seminary at Brighton, where he was ordained in 1874. His first assignment was St. Columba's church in Boston, in its infancy, and how well he did his work there I can only too well testify.

He went there with a deep sense of zeal; that sense of apostolic zeal which was in the heart of the great Apostle St. Patrick, and which was lighted in his soul when he was only a child.

For three years he labored there and then he left to go to the parishes of St. Vincent's, Boston, and St. Columba's, Boston, and there he remained for 10 years.

DR. ELIOT OF HARVARD OFFERED LOCAL MILL SUPERINTENDENCY

Merrimack Mills Willing to Pay Him $5000 a Year and "Occupancy of Excellent House"—Declined and Accepted $2000 Technology Professorship in 1865

When but twenty-nine years of age Dr. Charles William Eliot, now president emeritus of Harvard university, declined an offer of $5000 a year and "the occupancy of an excellent house" to come to Lowell as superintendent of the Merrimack Mills. The distinguished educator, who celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Thursday, reveals this, in his autobiography. He took a Technology professorship at the time, paying $2000 a year. Seven years later he was president of Harvard.

Dr. Eliot was in Rome, completing a study of European educational institutions and methods, just before the fall of Richmond and the close of the Civil war. Here is what Dr. Eliot says in part: "While staying in Rome in April, 1865, I heard of the assassination of Lincoln while I was attending service in the Sistine chapel."

I received from Mr. Francis B. Crowninshield an offer of the superintendency of the Merrimack Mills in Lowell, at a salary of $5000 and with the occupancy of an excellent house. Mr. Crowninshield had known me as a teacher at Harvard college, and particularly as manager of the chemical laboratory in the Lawrence Scientific school from 1861 to 1865. This occupation was decidedly congenial and peculiarly considered as much more profitable than any college professorship in the United States at that time, but it involved the abandonment of the profession for which I had been preparing myself for 11 years. While I was discussing this grave question with my wife came the news of the fall of Richmond. After a week of deliberation I declined Mr. Crowninshield's proposal with the entire approval of my wife.

"A few weeks later, while the family were making a short stay in Vienna, Prof. William R. Rogers of Boston offered me by letter a professorship of chemistry in the new Institute of Technology, which was to open its classes in September, 1866. The salary proposed was $2000. No students had yet been enrolled and the whole undertaking was novel and evidently dependent for success on the wisdom and personal influence of its head. I gladly accepted Prof. Rogers' proposal and returned to my house in Cambridge in season to join the new faculty of the Institute of Technology in the last weeks of September."

PRONOUNCED EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN

TOKIO, March 17.—A pronounced earthquake that sent inhabitants scurrying from houses, was felt today in the town of Fukushima, in northern Japan. No serious damage was reported. The seismograph at Osaka university earlier registered a severe earthquake believed to have been central in the Kurile islands. The shocks lasted 90 minutes.

GERMAN PACIFIST LEADER ARRESTED

BERLIN, March 17.—The German pacifist leader, Prof. Quidde, of the University of Munich, has been arrested in Munich by order of the public prosecutor, in connection with a letter he is alleged to have sent to Gen. Von Seeckt, commander of the Reichswehr. The letter, it is charged, contained the statement that young men were receiving military training throughout Germany under Reichswehr supervision.

Announcement of a Special Portrait Popularly Priced at

$5 a dozen

This event, the result of the establishment of this studio in the present advantageous location, should be welcomed at this time with the ending of war-time financial recklessness and the return of economy and frugality.

The careful thought, planning and long preparation made for this popular priced portrait should insure a both-sided success.

THE PUBLIC is assured of a portrait with quality in its making an appearance in fashion, it is a carefully planned portrait particularly to those who wish good portraits often of children, etc.

THE STUDIO is assured of an extended clientele and now

CONFIDENCE in a clientele that has shown confidence in the results of the past, that I am confident can still be improved upon, created confidence to establish my studio for photography in a location of regular strength of business.

"If a man writes a better book, preaches a better sermon, or makes a better mouse trap than his neighbor, then he builds his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

YES, IT'S PRETTY BIG WORLD!

These two little polar bear cubs are getting their first look at the great wide world. They don't know exactly how to do it all out. Born last December, their mother has just brought them out of their den. The one between them seems to be more bashful than his brother.

Agitation for a postal station in the Highlands district was begun at about the time the Centreville station was opened last September. Numerous residents of the district took the matter up with Congressman Rogers and with the postmaster and it was through the concerted efforts of these two that the department in Washington finally sent inspectors here to see if such a station was necessary. The inspectors' report favored the installation of the station and several months ago bids for a site for the station were called for. With the leasing of the building the matter is out of the hands of the Washington authorities and from now on all details will be handled by Postmaster Delisle.

2,500,000 CHILDREN ARE STARVING IN GERMANY

WASHINGTON, March 17. Two and one-half million children in Germany are starving; sickness is still steadily increasing, and unemployment is reaching almost "unbelievable heights," the Federal Council of Churches declared today in a statement urging support for the relief campaign being conducted in the United States.

From 50 to 70 per cent. of the children in cities and industrial districts are undernourished, says the statement, and "rickets, blindness, rickets, spinal curvature, anaemia and poliomyelitis are prevalent."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the typical cry of thousands who Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for enemas. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and colonel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and turpil liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain senna, but a healing, sooth-ing vegetable laxative.

No straining is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowel and liver to act now, to play harder for them—unnatural action! If you have "dark brown stools," bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—stuck headacho—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep them right. Try them. 15c and 30c.

Alkali In Soap Bad For the Hair

Soup should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp makes the hair brittle and ruined.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

To wash the tangles out it is sufficient to cleanse your hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily removing every particle of dust, dirt, hairdressing and excess oil. The hair dries quickly, evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store; it is inexpensive and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months—Adv.

HYMN OF ST. PATRICK FROM THE GAELIC

In his lecture delivered at the Memorial Auditorium on Feb. 17, Prof. Norriss Jeppson O'Connor, treating of the Background of the Irish Literary Revival, quoted the following as St. Patrick's hymn translated from the Gaelic. It was known as the "Ivera's Cry":

Patrick sang this hymn when the ambuscades were laid against him by King Loegaire (learoy), that he might not go to Tara to plant the faith. Then it seemed to those lying in ambush that he and his monks were wild deer with a fawn, even Bonan, following them. And his name is "Ivera's Cry."

Tarise today

Through a mighty strength, the invocation of the Trinity Through belief in the thickness, Through confession of the oneness Of the Creator of Creation.

I arise today

With His baptism Through the strength of His crucifixion Through His resurrection Through the strength of His descent for the judgment of doom.

I arise today

Through the strength of the love of Obernian, In obedience of angels, In the service of archangels, In hope of resurrection to meet with reward.

I arise today

In prayers of patriarchs, In predictions of prophets, In preachings of Apostles, In faith of confessors, In innocence of holy virgins, In deeds of Righteous men.

I arise today

Through the strength of heaven: Light of sun, Radiance of moon, Splendour of fire, Speed of lightning, Swiftness of wind, Depth of sea, Stability of earth, Firmness of rock.

I arise today

Through God's strength to pilot me, God's might to uphold me, God's wisdom to guide me, God's eye to look before me, God's ear to hear me, God's word to speak for me, God's hand to guard me, God's way to fit before me, God's shield to protect me, God's host to save me.

I arise today

From shades of devils, From temptations of vices, From everyone who shall wish us ill, After and apace, Alone and in multitude.

I summon today all these powers between me and those evils.

Against every cruel, merciless power that may oppose my body and soul.

Against incantations of false prophets, Against blind laws of pagandom.

Against false laws of heretics,

Against craft of idolatry,

Against spells of women and smiths and wizards,

Against every knowledge that corrupts man's body and soul.

Christ to shield me today

Against poison, against burning,

Against drowning, against wounding;

So that there may come to me abundance of reward.

Christ with me, Christ before me,

Christ behind me,

Christ in me, Christ beneath me,

Christ above me,

Christ in my heart, Christ on my left,

Christ in my right, Christ when I sit down,

Christ when I arise,

Christ in the heart of every man who thinks of me,

Christ in the mouth of everyone who speaks of me,

Christ in every eye that sees me,

Christ in every ear that hears me,

I arise today

Through a mighty strength, the invocation of the Trinity,

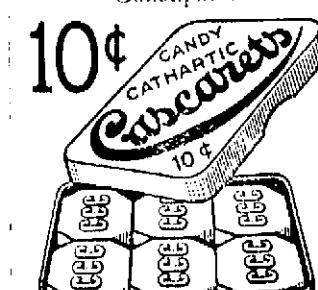

Through belief in the thickness,

Through confession of the oneness

Of the Creator of Creation.

FIFTH STREET BAPTIST CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

Interesting services marked the fifth anniversary celebration of the Fifth Street Baptist church society, yesterday morning and evening. "The Truth After Fifty Years" was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. Forrester A. Macdonald at the "golden service" in the morning, at 10:30. The preacher is a former pastor, Rev. Charles D. Piper, present pastor, conducted the services. The attendance was large.

A feature of the morning program was a special musical program presented by a quartet and the junior choir.

Rev. Macdonald reviewed the history of the church organization, told of the many changes that have occurred during the passing years and declared that the record of the celebrating parish proves once more that God is in the world as he always has been. Men, he continued, may make all kinds of advances through the great strides along scientific lines, but Jesus is the one way to God and is the one way to the solution of the world's problems today.

Rev. H. Gratton Dockrell, pastor of the Fifth Street church from 1905 to 1917, spoke at the evening service. He was reminiscing in a delightful way and described many of his experiences in later years in church work outside of Lowell.

The evening services were directed by Pastor Piper. Walter Lorman was accompanist for the choir and children's chorus. Rev. Mr. Dockrell's sermon topic was "The Secret of Being Strong and Active at Fifty." He advised the constant living of a Christian life and constant thought and love of the Creator, which, he declared, would greatly lengthen the lives of those on earth.

CATHOLIC CHURCH NEWS

Masses in Honor of St. Patrick Celebrated Today—
Sunday Services

St. Patrick's day musical programs and eulogies on the patron saint of Ireland were given in connection with the services in the Catholic churches of the city yesterday.

In St. Patrick's church, members of the three local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and the ladies auxiliary, received communion in a body at the 8:30 o'clock mass. The members met at their headquarters in the Grosvenor building at 9 o'clock and marched to the church. The mass was celebrated by Rev. James A. Supreme, D.D.

Today, masses in honor of St. Patrick were celebrated at 6:30, 7:45 and 8 o'clock, the latter being a solemn high mass in conjunction with the blessing of the new rectory.

Lenten devotions will continue this week in St. Patrick's, as in all the other Catholic churches. Exercises will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30. Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, confessions of the parish children will be heard.

In the Immaculate Conception church yesterday members of the junior branch of the Children of Mary, and the Third Order of St. Francis received communion at the 8 o'clock mass. At 9 o'clock this morning, a mass in honor of St. Patrick was celebrated. Lenten devotions will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock as usual.

At the 7:30 o'clock mass in St. Peter's church yesterday, members of the Matthew Temperance Institute received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass. The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Daniel J. Kehoe, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's and spiritual director of the Matthews. He was assisted in giving communion by Rev. Daniel J. Hefnerman.

The Boys' sodality received communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass. At 9 o'clock this morning, a solemn high mass in honor of St. Patrick was sung. There will be Lenten services in this church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, and Friday afternoon and evening. Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock the regular meeting of the Promotion of the Faith society will be held.

The Holy Angels' sodality of the Sacred Heart church received communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass in that church yesterday morning. Last night in the Sacred Heart school hall, a social and entertainment was given. The principal speaker was Hon. William H. O'Brien of Boston who gave an enlightening discourse on Ireland.

This morning, masses in honor of St. Patrick were celebrated at 6:30 and 8 o'clock, the 8 o'clock being a high mass. The Little Flower of Jesus sodality will meet Wednesday afternoon, Wednesday and Friday nights, Lenten devotions will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

The senior Holy Name society and the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion at the 8 o'clock mass in St. Michael's church yesterday. The Holy Name men held their regular meeting last evening. At the high mass, Rev. Alphonsus G. Madigan preached an impressive sermon on St. Patrick.

A clever St. Patrick's entertainment was given in St. Michael's school hall last evening by the children of the parochial school. The hall was taxed to capacity.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning, a high mass was celebrated in honor of St. Patrick. There will be Lenten services Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, mass celebrating the feast of St. Joseph, at which the members of the St. Joseph society received communion in a body, was celebrated at 8 o'clock.

Friday evening at 7 o'clock Lenten devotions consisting of the way of the cross and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be held in the Holy Trinity Polish church. The annual mass will be held at 11 o'clock.

The Ladies' sodality of St. Margaret's church will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The usual Lenten devotions will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

In St. Columba's church yesterday, the pastor, Rev. John J. Powers, requested the prayers of the congregation for the repose of the soul of Rev. Thomas W. Buckley, formerly of St. Thomas, who died last week in South Boston. Several parishioners attended the funeral services of the dead priest today.

Last evening, devotions to St. Rita were held. It was announced at all the masses that the second in the series of Lenten sermons will be given on tomorrow evening at 7:30, the preacher being Rev. Dennis A. O'Brien, D.D., of St. Paul's church, Cambridge. There will also be devotions Friday afternoon and evening.

Friday evening at 7 o'clock Lenten devotions consisting of the way of the cross and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be held in the Holy Trinity Polish church. The annual mass will be held at 11 o'clock.

Rev. Augustine Giraton, O.M.I., celebrated the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning and also delivered the sermon at that, the 9 o'clock and the high mass at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Louis Nolin, O.M.I., celebrated the 9 o'clock mass and also sang the high mass. The women's mission, which opened last Sunday and continued throughout the week, was brought to a close at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon with the concluding of the papal blessing, recitation of the rosary, a short instruction and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Rev. Augustin Giraton, O.M.I., celebrated the high mass at St. Jean Baptiste church yesterday morning, while Rev. Emile Bolduc, O.M.I., delivered the sermon. Sunday school services were held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The women's mission was opened at 9:30 a.m. and the young ladies' mission opened at 10:30 a.m. The parish opened at 5:30 o'clock and will continue throughout the entire week.

The members of the Notre Dame de Lourdes' sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes' church yesterday morning. Rev. Lucien Brassard, O.M.I., celebrated the high mass at 11 o'clock and Rev. Charles Paquette, O.M.I., delivered the sermon. Vesper services were held at 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

A regular meeting of the girls will be held tomorrow evening, at which time the drive for Thomas F. Quinn class will be the principal topic of discussion. The stars of the drive is "First one member" and the regular star have been very satisfactory.

Lowest priced receiving sets in Japan cost about $25 or $30.

Masses in honor of St. Patrick were held at 6:30 o'clock.

Rev. Arthur Morell, O.M.I., sang the high mass at St. Jeanne d'Arc's church yesterday morning, and Rev. Leon Lamotte, O.M.I., pastor of the church, delivered the sermon. The women's mission was brought to a close at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and the young ladies' mission opened at 3:30 o'clock.

Masses at St. Louis' church yesterday morning were celebrated at the regular hours with the high mass beginning at 11 o'clock. The women's mission was brought to a close at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Devotions, replacing vespers services during Lent were held at 1 o'clock.

WILL ADDRESS
LOWELL EAGLES

Georgia R. Strine, past worthy president of York, Penn., wife of Eagles, will address a meeting of members of Lowell acie and their lady friends in Liberty hall, Thursday evening. Mr. Strine was the principal speaker at a meeting held in Eagles hall recently and made a decided hit with members of the acie. A musical entertainment under the direction of Brother James E. Donnelly will also be given at this meeting.

A regular meeting of the girls will be held tomorrow evening, at which time the drive for Thomas F. Quinn class will be the principal topic of discussion. The stars of the drive is "First one member" and the regular star have been very satisfactory.

PROSPECTIVE FIANCES GALORE

The way to the altar has been made easy for Helen Heckman, Muskogee (Okla.) dancer. Two years ago she carried off honors in a national beauty contest. Since then a steady stream of love epistles has been arriving at the home of the "most-proposed-to girl in Oklahoma." A young ranchman encloses an amorous poem he made up as he milked his cows. A struggling musician encloses a sheet of a song he composed in her honor. A man of 60, deaf like herself, thinks a "perfect union could be formed by two deaf people." Even clergymen seek her hand. But Miss Heckman, regarded as one of the prettiest young women in America, declares wedding bells are not going to ring for her. She's married to her career, she says.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

HALFO THEATRE

The old home town will be recalled by a lot of persons who view "Double Dealing," the Universal comedy in which Bert Gibbons is starred, which opened at the Rialto theatre today. The story has its setting in a rural village and all the "folkies" are there. Most of all in the "folks" are the production stars, Bert Gibbons, the most popular man in drug stores. He is mostly in the limelight because he owns just about everybody in the community. This offers a little different angle on small town life as it is usually the case that just about everybody in town owns the town druggist.

The village "belle" is there and she would do credit to any man's home town. The sad part of it is that the native stars fail to captivate the young lady and an outsider who has been around and seen the world walks into the little hamlet and "clones" out with her. That's a touch of realism. It has happened in the best regulated communities. There is also the town rector who has one hand in his own pocket and the other in the publican's. He is a career "dealer" and an expert "cloosier." Bert Gibbons has attained a recognized place among the prominent dramatic stars of the screen. And there is no doubt about his being a regular "the man." Taylor he has won the all-around cowboy championship at Pendleton, Oregon, the greatest honor of western cattle-hand, and has received the title of "The Greatest Western cowboy." But when Bert laughingly raises his eyes from the book he is reading and meets his motion picture public in the role of Ben Showell, he looks like the lost chord. His comedy is so drab and his character portrayal so natural that he would make a cameraman laugh—which is the final word.

The companion feature is "Worthington, the Magnificent" starring Clara Kimball Young. This picture tells a vivid story of how a beautiful young girl gets herself entangled into a complicated blackmail affair and how she extricates herself. Supporting Miss Young are Stanley Gordon and Lloyd Whitlock, two leading screen artists.

THE STRAND

The finest love story ever written is the praise bestowed on "The Eternal City," Sir Hall Caine's immortal novel, adapted to the screen and being shown daily at The Strand during the first week of the week. It was produced by George K. Lippert and filmed entirely in Italy with a notable cast, which includes Barbara La Marr, Richard Bennett, Lionel Barrymore, Margaret Love, Bert Lytell and others. The other features on the bill is a Charlie Chaplin classic, "The Adventurer," and "Babes in Toyland" the Musical, with such an array of talent on the program the patrons of the screen will surely have something of the worth-while sort to enjoy. And don't forget that Strand theater is always an added feature of all offerings at Lowell's biggest and best theatre.

R. E. KEPPES' THEATRE

The bill at the R. E. Keith theatre this week will hold numerous good acts but perhaps, in the top troupe, them all are topped by Alfred Lunt & Ethel Barrymore in "What Next?" Mr. Charles is a very noted American actor, nephew of the immortal Edwin Booth and grandson of Junius Brutus Booth. He is one of the most distinguished players in vaudeville today. Charles Craig and Jack Haley will appear every night. The Mounties, with such an array of talent on the program, the patrons of the screen will surely have something of the worth-while sort to enjoy. And don't forget that Strand theater is always an added feature of all offerings at Lowell's biggest and best theatre.

ALLOW KING TO ABDI-
CATE VOLUNTARILY

ATHENS, March 17.—A semi-official statement in Athens newspaper reports that an agreement has been reached among the political leaders prescribing the conditions under which King George, exiled at Lincharest, will be allowed to abdicate voluntarily.

These include the right to retain the title of king for life, power to draw four-fifths of his civil list allowance, the right to dispose freely of the crown domains excepting the Tatoi palace, which the state will buy, and renunciation of the rights of succession by all members of the dynasty.

Just No. 1, Milk Emulsion. It will have Lou Plessis and Pauline Frederick in the principal parts.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Stranger," produced for Paramount from the widely read novel, "The Best and the Last," by John Galsworthy, eminent English novelist, is the feature attraction at the Merrimack Square theatre for the first part of the week. It introduces one of the best casts seen in a screen production, including Robert Frazer, Marshall and Robert Brooker. Much of the dramatic action revolves around the processes of English criminal justice. One of the most powerful incidents of the story is the arrest and trial for murder of an innocent man.

Surrounding attractions include "The Marriage Contract," starring Alice Lake, and a absorbing story of modern life, "Bon-Ton," noted comedian, "Where Is My Wandering Boy," "An Evening," and the latest reel on the Boston Post prize photoplay.

HON. FRANCIS SLATTERY

Well Known Boston Attorney Addresses the League of Catholic Women

"It is always a pleasure for me to come to Lowell," stated Hon. Francis Slattery of Boston, in opening his interesting and instructive lecture on "Vital Issues of the Present Day," yesterday afternoon before the League of Catholic Women in Liberty hall. "It is an inspiration to any Catholic to come to the birthplace, the home of His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell; and it is a double pleasure to be able to speak before the largest branch of Catholic women in the diocese.

"What has been going on in America since the close of the World war is a revolution in a mental way. But what is noticeable is that this mental revolution has spread to European countries and the thought of the American democracy is permeating the mind of the citizens of Europe. The institutions of America have become the institutions of the world."

"The conditions in Russia today leading to nationalization of children, nationalization of women and industry, are abominable. It has become generally believed that the children no longer belong to the family, they belong to the state. The time is near when the children will be the property of the state. And the danger in the preaching of Russia, may in time become the dominating power in America."

"Take Austria, for instance. That country is rising, slowly yet steadily to her feet under the dictatorship of Mr. Sepp, Catholic chancellor, who has brought order out of chaos."

"The people of Europe are today beginning to awaken to the teachings of America. The principles of America have been transplanted to Europe; the Europeans are learning that the gifts and possessions given them are not donations from the government; they are being taught that their possessions are God-given gifts, and that God alone can reclaim them. This transplanting is worth the great human sacrifice of the boys who went across to give their lives for the teaching of democracy."

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. But in discussing these topics we must remember that intellectual combat never leaves a bad taste in the mouth; that we are discussing measures, not men; principles and practices, not persons."

"It is because I believe in the fair-minded American that I want to stimulate such beliefs in the minds of those whom I have before me. It is the unhappy misunderstanding of the Catholic religion that brings such disagreement between Catholic and non-Catholic today."

Speaking of the K.K.K. and its influence upon Catholic societies, Hon. Mr. Slattery quoted Admiral Dewey's statement, "Don't cheer, boys; the poor fellows are dying." "But let us change that this afternoon and say, 'Don't cheer, girls; the poor fellows are dead. And they don't realize it yet!'"

Referring to letters interchanged by a prominent Englishman and an Americian, referring to the inability of a Catholic to be loyal to his country, he said: "The absurdity of this statement disposes of the question. But let me say that the Catholics in the American army doubled their quota. The first boy to die on the field of battle was a Catholic parochial school boy, and the last man to die before the enemy's fire was a Catholic priest. Because we are subject to higher power, because we believe in a God, we are misunderstood and told we cannot be loyal to our country. Because we are loyal to our country, loyal to our God and loyal to our faith, we are better citizens of the United States. Every Catholic is a loyal citizen because he is such under the commandments of God."

Speaking of various parties, he mentioned the National Women's party, which cries "Equal rights for women." "The weakness of this party is shown in the fact that at a conference between the League of Catholic Women and representatives of the National Women's party, the league members gave the party leave to withdraw. Massachusetts will never be dominated by that party, and I thank God for it!" said Mr. Slattery.

Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, chaplain of the League addressed the members and congratulated them on the fine program given by the orchestra and the Choral club. Fr. Curtin also urged the continuance of the good work by the members and the need of co-operation on all sides, in order that the high standard shall be maintained.

The musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye, was as follows:

"Hail! Gloriosus Apostle!"

Lowell Gas Light Company

You Can Do It Better With Gas

"Anyone can boil water!"

True enough, but there are still a good many people who use more gas than is necessary. Real economy in all forms of cooking means doing the job with the smallest possible amount of gas. Here are a few hints that will help you save gas.

1—Always cover the kettle. "A watched pot never boils." Keep the covers on tight. This means quicker results.

2—Don't heat more water than is needed.

3—Keep the scale from the inside of kettles. This acts as an insulator and means the use of more gas to bring the contents to a boil.

4—After the water begins to boil reduce the flames. Water in an ordinary kettle cannot be heated beyond the boiling point. A small flame will keep it at that heat.

5—Use containers that are larger than the burners. This insures getting the full use of all the flames against the kettle.

Unconsciously, an otherwise careful housekeeper often wastes gas. By following these suggestions, you will get the full use of all the gas for which you pay. That really is what the Lowell Gas Light Company wants—not only to furnish the gas, but to help you to use it without waste.

LOWELL BATTERY LEADS STATE ENLISTMENTS

B battery wins the blue pin! With a full enlisted fighting complement of 109 members the Lowell detachment of 102d Field Artillery, M.A.C., is posted today at the top of the column in an official survey and "checkup" just announced by national guard headquarters at state house, Boston.

Capt. George Faneuf today admitted the charge, but he was not bragging about it. Just said that his splendid bunch of lads in B Battery ranks and he wanted to maintain their record, which has always been high with other fighting legions of the state at home. And 100 members is the members.

Outside of Lowell, the situation is far different. Enlistments in the "M.A.C." have been falling off steadily in many branches of the soldier volunteer service for many months past. State military authorities have been diligently advertising the fact and besieging organization commanders to get busy. Late last fall the situation appeared to be growing serious and extraordinary efforts were made in the campaign for recruits.

Many organizations succeeded in filling required federal quotas, but there are still many state trooper organizations that are far below required standards.

Capt. Faneuf said today that B battery has been for some time past regularly within the "federal recognition stipulations," as they are called. That means 100 men or better, and B battery commander and his batterymen of the line are naturally feeling quite cocky today and no mistake.

And yet it wasn't so long ago when Faneuf and his staff of battery officers were working day and night in an effort to fill the battery rosters shortly after the World war armistice. Of course you couldn't expect even dyed-in-the-wool patriots to burn up any roads to Westford street armory after that catastrophe in Europe, but all the same, B battery has never tumbled down the membership ladder very far and when it did, there was always a "quick rebound" back to the top and frequently over the top.

B Battery's Roll 100

State headquarters has notified all guardsmen that the campaign to enlist enough men to fill all guard organization quotas, must continue with unabated energy. B battery is, of course, the most active.

The campaign at headquarters reports that during the past week, three other state units of the guard have been reported to the militia bureau as having fallen below the strength entitling them to continue to hold federal recognition. No report of action on these three delinquent organizations has as yet been received from the bureau.

A new enlistment chart has been started, showing by means of colored pins the comparative strength of all units in the guard. A blue pin indicates the unit in whose square that pin is found has an enrollment equal to or above the minimum required to hold federal recognition. A plain red pin denotes the fact that the unit planned has fallen below the 10 per cent allowance—a sort of warning pin. A red and white striped pin denotes the unit that is below the danger line and liable at any time to be reported as such to the militia bureau. Black and white striped pins mean probation.

The prevailing tinge of the state house chart today is red—denoting danger—but that doesn't bother Captain Faneuf and the boys in B battery who are sailing high and outside the half-end of the week. Through a clever bit of jockeying the local senators are holding back this report, which will be in a large measure favorable. The courthouse bill is believed to have been ready to see the light of day at the same time the Atkinson bill was reported. Influence was brought to bear to keep it pigeon-holed and to permit a few other matters from other parts of the state to be reported in between. The value of such a move is obvious. By such strategy the danger of the motions becoming "sour on the much Lowell" is eliminated. For this reason the local bills have been kept a few days apart in the reports of committees.

Battery Athlete Winners

The battery basketball team has been defeating all comers this winter. Saturday night Battery C of Lawrence won again (for the second year in succession) properly trimmed. B Battery leading the score, 42 to 23, the fastest game of the season. Basketball has been the rage this winter all over the field artillery lines, too. Lowell battery men captured two hard-fought games from Company B, 152d Infantry. Company K of Marlboro also went down to defeat at the hands of the champions on Westford street. One game went to Company K.

The local battery men have also won for the second year the Lowell chamber of commerce shield trophy for best pistol marksmanship. The Landy bowling trophy has also been won by the local battery men, who kept right on and captured for the second time the season's honors in the basketball field, holding on to the handsome trophy donated by William N. Goodell of the Weeks and Daniels.

B Battery goes to Camp Devens for annual two weeks' tour of duty, starting July 5. If memory serves we used to like to visit Camp Devens when the Lowell men took possession of the old training grounds in former years, and we wouldn't wonder if we paid them another visit next July, if the boss is willing.

trouble zone of "the big chiefs" flying the blue U. S. emblem.

National guard commands all over the commonwealth have been ordered to gather up all old, disused and surplus military equipment and turn it in to the state arsenal storages without further delay. B Battery is preparing to clean up all military goods not wanted in times of peace and expects to forward thousands of dollars worth now on hand and idle.

Over in the storage quarters labelled "B" are spare carbons, harnesses by the dozen, wheels, battery "extras," straps, tools, raw material in the steels and leathers, saddles, blankets, ropes, chains, etc., all of which the battery boys have got to tackle pretty soon, pack up neatly in separate bundles and ship them all to the commonwealth's central arsenal for checking up and tabbing. This job will be done some fine day or night when B battery men are feeling extra fine and are all on hand for the mighty roundup of the artillery organization's surplus equipment that won't be used again until the next war and might go lost if left as it is today, scattered all around the state in armories and leased drill barracks.

Captain Faneuf estimated the war material to be shipped back to arsenal storages as running into thousands of dollars. The fighting machine—B battery—today retaining its drill work and equipment, a powerful complement of millimeter guns, ammunition and war equipment almost without end, right here in Lowell—and containing 34 excellent battery horses constantly assigned for emergency and regular drill managers—the battery, total equipment estimated to be worth spot cash in the vicinity of $250,000. Captain Faneuf told The Sun today.

And it is some job keeping tabs on this quarter million dollar property, too, if quarter-million folks could see the material and check up the values. In some armories stored war materials sometimes strangely disappeared in unaccounted for. State headquarters always become vexed when national guard properties melt away into the unknown and officers-of-the-line are always brought rigidly to attention if such material has to be reported missing and not found.

Last it be said, however, that rarely anything worth reporting ever has been missed from the Westford army armament storages. Careful protection of all military materials is the rule every day in the year at the Westford street quarters and the battery boys take first class pride in the clean records that go forward every month to state house military archives.

Annual Inspection Coming

The cabsin riders of Westford street are priming up like an Old-town Me. firemen's tournament crew for the annual state inspection, scheduled for the latter part of this month. It is always a strenuous period, consuming about three days in all. B batterymen have already sprung up equipment for the most part, but there will be much to do in the way of preparing uniforms spic and span, buttoning up the armory interior and getting those harnesses over at the worn winter stalls on Plain street polished up for the critical eyes of Major Sam Hopkins, U.S.A., who has been assigned to inspect the Lowell command this year and pass unbiased judgment.

"We shall be ready for the major," said Captain Faneuf, and when the battery chieftain says that you know what it means. A regular army "surgeon" is detailed to check up the battery war material.

The big inspection, of course, comes on the "open to the public" night, when the batterymen will execute their maneuvers with foot and gun drills, etc. Stable inspection is also on the cards.

B batterymen are getting ready also for the usual spring and summer archives.

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19141 Havanna Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburg, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepin.

“Magic” in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

million. In speaking with a reporter for the Sun, Mr. Lewis pointed out that Middlesex is the richest county per capita in the United States and with the possible exception of a few towns in the immediate vicinity of New York city is best off financially and has a lower debt than any county.

"Cambridge, Malden and other places in that end of the county seem to get about what they want. Lowell should have something to be proud of, but something to pack away out of sight somewhere and feel more like apologizing for," said Mr. Lewis. "We should be given something that will make a favorable impression to strangers who visit here. The Memorial Auditorium, said, "is one of the greatest achievements that Lowell has ever had. Lowell was not particularly in erecting that magnificent structure and the wisdom of it is apparent. Everywhere it is talked of and it is universally cited as just what a memorial should be. We will just have a courthouse that will amount to something. Lowell is deserving of one."

May Use Other Funds

Rep. Achin said that there is some talk in the legislature that the $200,000 intended for the erection of a building, the furnishings to be paid for from the annual income of the county. Allowing even $60,000 for the purchase of land should be deemed advisable to buy property that would leave $140,000 for just the construction of a building, he pointed out. The Malden courthouse cost $200,000, the building land at $35,000, and the furnishing of the building about $25,000. This is a modern affair with two stories in the front and one story in the rear. There are a few offices on the second floor, all of the courtrooms and siderooms being on the main floor. By such construction money is saved on elevators and other complements.

County Commissioner Vernon R. Barlow, in commenting on this, said that while the commissioners could pay for the furnishings from the annual count, and has a lower debt than any county.

"Cambridge, Malden and other places in that end of the county seem to get about what they want. Lowell should have something to be proud of, but something to pack away out of sight somewhere and feel more like apologizing for," said Mr. Lewis. "We should be given something that will make a favorable impression to strangers who visit here. The Memorial Auditorium, said, "is one of the greatest achievements that Lowell has ever had. Lowell was not particularly in erecting that magnificent structure and the wisdom of it is apparent. Everywhere it is talked of and it is universally cited as just what a memorial should be. We will just have a courthouse that will amount to something. Lowell is deserving of one."

River and Pension Bills

The bill for an investigation of the Concord river nuisance is well on its way, being due for third reading in the house today. The $500 appropriation recommended by the ways and means committee is to be secured by proportionate assessments payable by Lowell, Billerica and Chelmsford. The river nuisance will be studied from the Fordinway bridge in Billerica to the spot near the Auditorium here where the Concord empties into the Merrimack.

The bill of Rep. Slovay, which provides that charwoman in the employment of the city may be pensioned if incapacitated for further work after 25 years of service, or if incapacitated by injury after 15 years of service, passed the senate Friday to be engrossed.

A report is expected from the committee on railroads this week on the 8-in-11-hour bill affecting street railway workers. The men at present are under a 9-in-11-hour plan. No report has as yet been made by the committee on cities on the proposal to pension city laborers.

Kargas Equals Old Record Mark in Ruining High Jump—Local Athletes Take First in All But One Event—Lawrence Team Trails

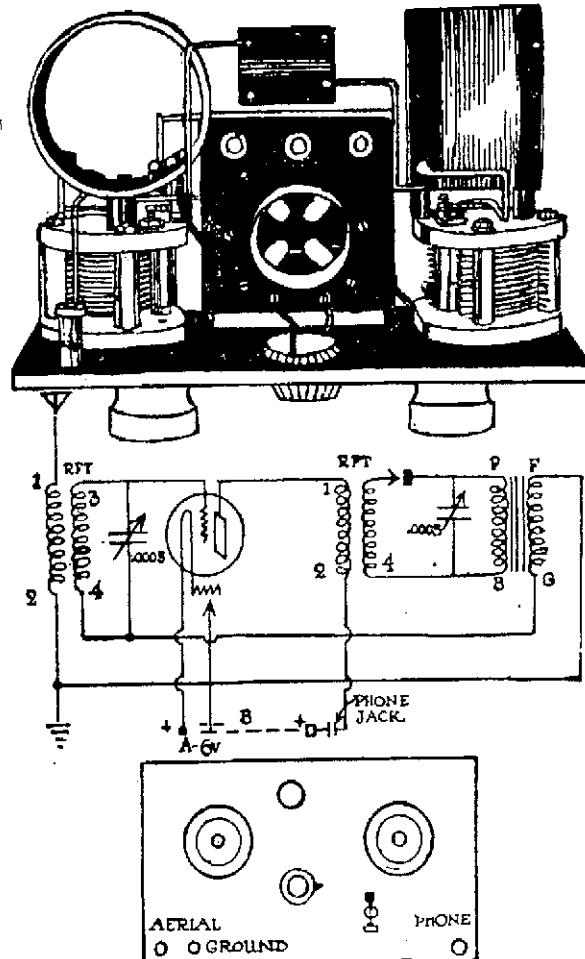

The Merrimack Valley sectional meet at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday attracted some fine athletic talent to the association gym and stiff competition marked the dual meet with Lawrence, the local Y men winning by 42 points to 19, taking all but one first. The meet served as an elimination medium for the big two-state meet to be held in the Boston Y, Huntington and Massachusetts avenues, next Saturday. Athletes from this state and Rhode Island will contest for supremacy under the Red Triangle on that day.

Ratchin of the local Y was the outstanding star of Saturday's meet, breaking 300 yards flat, setting a new record for the gym. This is fast time for such a difficult track and great things are looked for from him next Saturday. Kargas of Lowell equalled his own record in the running high jump.

Frank Sawyer, assistant to Physical Director C. E. Towne, was clerk of the course. Harry Brown, manager of amateur division of the Lawrence startup and Peter Douglas, Foster Browning and H. L. ## Single Tube Reflex Set Takes Loud Speaker

BY ISRAEL KLEIN,
To get most out of a single tube, try the single tube reflex receiver. Here, with the use of a crystal detector and the vacuum tube amplifier, stations up to 500 miles can be brought in on a loud speaker. Even farther distances can be obtained with the phones.

Use of a crystal for rectification in this connection has proved to be clearer than the vacuum tube, because of its freedom from oscillation and the elimination of the howling and squeaking we get in regenerative receivers.

The parts for this set consist of:
1 audio-frequency transformer, ratio 4½ to 1
2 radio-frequency transformers for reflexing
1 tube socket
1 chassis
2 variable condensers, 22 plate

1 phone jack
1 rubberized panel (about 8 inches by 10 inches)
1 wood base
1 wood base
6 binding posts
Bus wire.

Thus, without the tube, batteries and phone or loud speaker, the set should cost not more than $30.

Transformers

The radio transformers may be either made or bought. If bought, care should be taken that they are for reflexing. A kind that can be attached to the variable condensers can now be bought. The first transformer, at the left, is made as follows:

Get two formica cylinder forms 1½ inch thick, 2 inches long and 2½ inches in diameter. Drill two small mounting holes on each form, one hole on top and one on bottom, by which

BLIND MAN BUILDS RADIO SET

HOLYOKE COLLEGE BROADCAST SPANS TONIGHT

Of special interest to Lowell people who have daughters at Mt. Holyoke college, will be a broadcast this evening from station WBZ, Westinghouse station at Springfield, of a group of numbers by students and faculty of the college. The college broadcast will begin at 6:55 o'clock and will continue through until 7:30 o'clock. Appearing with the students will be Anna Wellman, soprano; Milton J. Aronson, violinist; and William Churchill Hammond, pianist; all members of the college faculty.

The form, when completed, can be attached to the condenser.

Four more holes are drilled in each form, for the terminals, which may consist of switch points clamped down inside by hexagonal nuts. Terminals 1 and 3 are on top; 2 and 4 below. Two small holes are also made for the wires to pass through. These are near terminals 1 and 3.

Soldier end of wire to terminal 3 and wind 60 turns of 25 single cotton single silk or double cotton, wire evenly and tightly and solder other end to terminal 4. Wrap 1-inch strip of empire cloth around this winding, and then wind the primary winding on this. It consists of 15 turns, in the same direction as the larger secondary winding. The beginning is soldered to terminal No. 1 and the end to No. 2.

Then mount on condenser by attaching with short brass strips to the last plate.

Care in Mounting

The second radio frequency transformer is wound like the first, except that the top winding or primary coil consists of 35 turns.

Be careful also that the second transformer is mounted at right angles to the first, and that both sets of transformer and condenser are placed at opposite ends of the panel, in order to reduce any inductive effect upon each other to a minimum.

The audio-frequency transformer should be placed at the back of the vacuum tube and crosswise, the grid terminal near the left radio-frequency transformer and the plate terminal the other way. This makes each lead as short as possible.

The rheostat should have a resistance of 20 ohms.

For Good Reception

Tube sockets with contact points as far apart as possible are best, because this helps to cut down the capacity between the grid and plate of the tube.

Another help for better reception is the use of a thin sheet of copper to back up the front panel. It eliminates body capacity and does away with much unnecessary wiring. If this is done, be sure to keep it from short circuiting the condenser shafts and attach all ground and negative battery connections directly to it.

Extreme care should be taken in wiring. Joints should be soldered carefully. Leads should be as short as possible. But all corners of the wiring should be at right angles.

The crystal detector may be any kind on the market, or one you can easily make yourself.

The tube best suited for this set, if it has been found, is the UV201-A, with a six-volt storage A battery or 4 dry cells in series. A UV199 tube might work just as well, with a tap off the second cell of the 6-volt A battery.

The B battery voltage may vary from 45 to 60 and even more.

Operation

To operate the set, first adjust the crystal detector by setting both dials at the same point and moving the detector control until a strong click is heard.

Slowly turn both dials, at about the same positions, until a station is heard. Then turn the grid variable condenser for stronger response and manipulate the crystal for better reception.

Keep a record of dial markings and the stations heard, to make tuning in easier later on.

Clearly and selectively depend on proper crystal adjustment.

Oscillating Circuits

NEW YORK, March 17.—Radio manufacturers are trying to educate fans into the use of non-oscillating hook-ups, to avoid local interference in reception. Major Edwin H. Armstrong, inventor of the regenerative circuit, suggests use of a stage of radio frequency as a "muffler."

UNSOVED RADIO MYSTERIES

Radio presents more mysteries than any other science. Of these, H. Goranson, noted science writer, points to four outstanding phenomena that are still unsolved.

1. Fading—the dying out of a current for no apparent reason.

2. Dead Spots—areas in which certain transmitted signals cannot be heard.

3. Crystal Records—records of 500 to 1000 miles in reception made by crystal sets which ordinarily cannot receive more than 25 miles.

4. Body Capacity—referring to the effect a person's body has on the reception of a radio set, when he is close to it.

SOME DIET RESULTS

It is really remarkable what a change slow eating, accompanied by thorough chewing of food, will do for the betterment of your bodily health. In hasty eating one does not really get the true taste or flavor of food. Careful tasting by retaining the food in the mouth until all the goodness of taste has been obtained is a great satisfier.

The real value of this process is that one is satisfied with a less amount of food and overeating is thereby avoided.

The real help of a reducing diet is not only a loss of the non-working fat but in overcoming many other bodily diseases. It is well known, in cases of obesity that the heart, lungs, liver and kidneys are frequently the sufferers. The relief experienced in the working of these organs from a satisfactory reducing diet is worth all the time one may give to it.

In thirty-one cases out of forty, where investigation was carried out in a large city hospital, it was found that dieting, besides reducing the weight, also reduced the blood pressure.

The improvement in respiration was another distinct gain through this dieting program. Shortness of breath and wheezing were stopped. Excessive sneezes were also corrected.

In sixteen cases out of forty, serious foot trouble had developed through overweight and lack of proper exercise. The reducing diet corrected every one.

FINELY TUCKED

The finely tucked tweed blouse is the most fashionable type to be worn with the tweed suit. For tailored suits of serge or harka a more feminine type with ruffles or embroidery is permissible.

Alpaca is the smartest material for morning frocks at the present time and it comes in a most interesting range of colors.

ARMOR—BUT NOT ENOUGH!

Joseph Buscak of St. Louis, fearing an attack by gunmen, made a fortress of his gasoline filling station. Sheets of armor were placed around its walls. But Joseph was shot down and seriously wounded when he ventured out. He had neglected to provide a suit of armor for himself.

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

Jack was very interested as the hermit hacked a small limb from a nearby tree. "Now," said the whittler, as he sat down on a log, "it's easy to make things with a knife if you take your time." And while he talked he proceeded to shape out the bottom of a small sail boat.

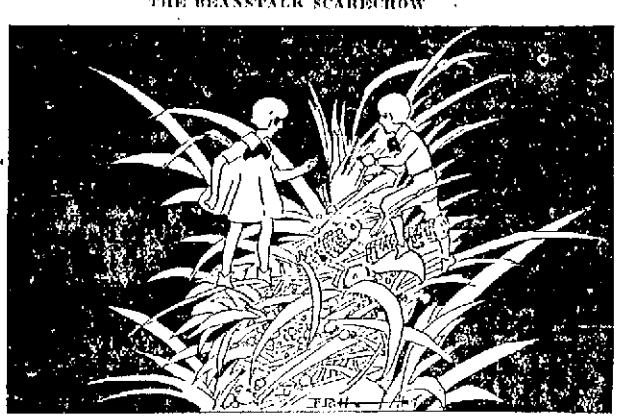

Chip by chip went flying into the air as the hermit wielded his knife. Soon the little sail boat took real shape and Jack then took out his own knife and started making the sail masts. By the time the boat was carved out the masts were ready and the hermit stuck them into place.

"Quite a fine boat!" laughed the hermit as he held it up in his hand. Then he took out a handkerchief, ripped it in two pieces and made two very fine sails. "She's ready now," said the old man, and with that he led the way to the water and set the boat afloat. (Continued.)

THE BEANSTALK SCARECROW

"I'M THE SCARECROW W' O' BEANSTALK LAND"

"Would you mind taking your foot out of my eye?" asked a voice suddenly.

"Lots," said Nancy.

"Oh, do tell me one," urged the scarecrow. "If you tell me one I'll tell you two. That's fair."

"Yes, indeed!" declared Nancy. So she told him the story about the scarecrow in Squeaky-Moo Land, who hit the strange dog with his stick, when he went to steal the bone Pluto had buried at the scarecrow's feet.

"So you see, a scarecrow can be a hero, even if he does stand in a cornfield and never move," said Nick. "Some people say that his stick was ready to stop anyone, but we know better. He told us no himself. And he saved Pluto's bone and the strange dog never came back."

"That's a lovely story," sighed the scarecrow. "I know how he must have felt. I'm quite sure that some day, if the crows don't stop pestering me, I, too, shall lose my temper completely and give a dozen of them a trouncing."

"Don't forget your story," reminded Nancy.

"No, I shan't!" declared the scarecrow. "I'll begin at once. It's about burrying, too! One dark night I was awakened by voices quite near me. The moon was under a cloud and I couldn't see a thing, but I heard every word. One man said, 'Let's bury it here. No one will ever think of looking.'

"Another one said, 'A very good idea!'

TO PAY NEW DIVIDEND LODGERS ARE DRIVEN OUT

Traders National Bank Depositors to Get Four Per Cent Payment Soon

Congressman John Jacob Rogers today was informed by officials of the treasury department, including J. M. Porter, general receiver of the Traders National bank, that steps are being taken which will probably result in the payment to bank depositors of a further dividend of 1 per cent. The preparation and distribution of the necessary checks to the 13,000 or more depositors will probably take some six weeks. The action taken by the treasury department comes as a direct result of Mr. Rogers' appeal for the distribution of the funds now in the hands of the receiver. In reply to Mr. Rogers' letter of March 6, Receiver Porter wrote as follows under date of March 8:

"I have read with interest your communication discussing the affairs of the Traders National bank and your suggestion that the trust pay another dividend pending final settlement."

"I am in touch with you over the phone the other day I had an informal conference with the treasury officials about this trust. It was suggested that possibly a buyer could be found for all the remaining assets, including the western land, and that, if this could be worked out, a final dividend could be paid."

"I am looking forward to this western land and I have already communicated with a party who probably would be interested."

"Assuring you I will do all that is possible to work out a satisfactory arrangement, I am "Very respectfully,"

"J. M. PORTER, Receiver."

Under date of March 14, Mr. Porter wrote the following letter:

"Today I have a report from the gentlemen to whom I addressed the inquiry as to prospects for an early sale of the western lands belonging to the trust. He states he does not know of any individual who might be interested enough to make an offer for the property, but will make an inquiry and advise me later."

"This report did not hold out much promise of an early sale and I have therefore today asked the comptroller of the currency for authority to pay another dividend, the sixth, at a rate of 4 per cent, this being as much as the funds of the trust now on hand will allow."

Mr. Rogers has conferred with the comptroller of the currency personally concerning this matter and states that there is no doubt that the necessary authority will be issued by him in the immediate future. However, the mechanical process of preparing the checks will require several weeks—probably not less than six.

COMMITTEES AT GIRLS' CITY CLUB

Two new classes have been formed at the Girls' City Club. Herman Brase, professor of psychology at the State Normal school, will give a six-lesson course on that subject Thursday evenings in the clubrooms.

On Tuesday evening J. A. Handley will open a needle class. The banquet committee has the arrangements for the banquet well under way. The standing committees, recently appointed by the executive board, are as follows:

Program—Mollie Hoar, Mollie Lyon, Alice Haley, Ethel Baker, Mary Collier, Irene Bazin, Maybelle Lyons, Yvonne Perreault, Laura Edmunds, Alice Lantagne.

DRACT OFFICER BUYS BUNGALOW

George H. Holt, popular police officer of Dracut, has purchased the property at 5 Arthur street, formerly owned by Joseph A. Kerr. The property consists of a 6-room bungalow and two-car garage, with a large lot of land included. The transaction was handled through the office of E. Gaston Campbell, local real estate dealer.

Mr. Campbell also reports the sale of a 4500 square foot lot of land on Burnaby street to H. Lowell Hamer, well known electrician; the grantor being George J. Samboro. Mr. Hamer has already begun the erection of a bungalow on this lot.

Every-Day Danger Threatens Everybody Whose

IRISH CONCERT TONIGHT

PUBLIC HEARING ON CHELMSFORD ROAD

Elaborate Entertainment at

Auditorium—Other Events
in Honor of St. Patrick

Another important transfer of valuable Lowell real estate property, including land and buildings, is reported today. The transfer represents more than $10,000 and the probable expenditure on renovations or between $25,000 and $40,000.

The deal involves the Colonial Filling Station Inc., which has acquired by outright purchase the large centrally-located parcel of land and store and dwelling properties located at No. 375 Gorham street, Mann square.

The property was sold to the gasoline-distributing concern by Cornelius H. Regan and Maria M. Regan, owners of the holdings on Gorham street.

The real estate disposed of contains 2234 square feet of land that has been assessed at but 50 cents a foot. The assessment values as listed at city hall are as follows: On buildings, $4200; land, $1000.

The Regan owners were represented by Thomas H. Elliott of this city and the buyer by the Henry W. Savage Inc. of Boston.

Extensive improvements are to be made on the property just purchased by the filling station corporation. It was announced today. The old property will be removed and room made for the location of the new gasoline-distributing branch in the Colonial "chain" organization in this city. The corporation always spends lavish amounts of money in beautifying its station equipment and surroundings, stations frequently costing as high as $40,000 apiece.

It was stated this morning that the project on Gorham street diagonally across from the courthouse, which will be started about April 1, will cost very close to the above amount, if not more.

Heavy Fines and Jail Sentence for Auto Driver

Continued

Civil satisfaction has been effected in the case of assault against Officer Conroy and on a plea of guilty it was agreed that this complaint should be dropped. Civil satisfaction has also been made in the case of the little girl. Her counsel, Dennis J. Murphy, said that she had suffered a nervous shock and severe bruises and abrasions, but was able to be out at play again.

GRANDFATHER A WITNESS

The police testimony and the testimony of the little girl's grandfather, the latter called as a defense witness, tended to prove that all three men were drunk and that Ernest, the car driver, was a bit more drunk, but possibly than the other two. The complaints against the other two were filed with an adjudication of guilty. Police Superintendent Hugh Downey, police prosecutor, took the stand to swear that he saw the defendants when they were brought into the station and that they were boisterously and dangerously drunk.

Albert S. Howard, attorney for the defendants, made a plea for clemency, stressing the point that civil satisfaction had been made where due and that the brotherly trio were thoroughly chastened and imbued with the spirit of repentance because of their fall from grace. He said they come of good family, are citizens of standing in the community of Littleton and urged judicial mercy.

Mr. Edward Shea of Centralville, who has been travelling for B. C. Maguire Co., has returned from the west and is registered at the Hotel Harding, New York.

Ex-Senator Linus Bradbury and Mrs. Bradbury have returned from Florida after a nine-week visit. In the sunny south, the greater portion of which was spent in St. Augustine, Fla.

Judge Enright said that the mere fact that civil satisfaction had been effected could not swerve him from the strictest compliance with the law. "This offense calls for a jail sentence and I shall impose one," said Judge Enright. "The district court judges have discussed similar cases and it is the opinion of all that civil satisfaction shall be considered only as an aftermath and such settlement cannot cloud the points involved. This man was drunk and it is evident that he operated his car in such a manner as to involve great danger to the public."

Sentences being imposed, $150 and two months for the auto law count. Mr. Howard exercised the right of appeal. An additional fine of $10 was imposed on the drunkenness charge, which was also appealed. Surely in the sum of $60 for Tapp's appearance before the April term of the superior court was furnished.

Dr. Blood is a colonel in the Medical Reserve Corps, was decorated with the D.S.C. for bravery overseas. He was accompanied by Capt. Frank P. THE IRISH IN AMERICA

THE IRISH IN AMERICA

Subject of Interesting Address
by Hon. Wm. H. O'Brien
at Sacred Heart School Hall

Hon. William H. O'Brien, of the public utilities commission of Boston, was the principal speaker at a most enjoyable Irish night, held in the Sacred Heart school hall last evening.

A large crowd turned out to hear the eloquent lecturer and listen to the well arranged program of Irish airs and melodies. The hall was appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Seated on the stage with the speaker were Mayor John J. Donahue, City Collector Patrick J. Reynolds, Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I., Rev. Charles Barry, O.M.I., Councilor Thomas McFadden, Councilor John W. Daly, Stephen Flynn, Frank Roach and Daniel F. Sullivan. Rev. James B. O'Bryan presided and introduced the speaker.

Mr. O'Brien spoke on the part the Irish have played in American history, going back to the status of the Declaration of Independence and advancing through the various years and trying situations to the present day. He showed a thorough knowledge of his subject, presenting names, dates and anecdotes in a most illuminating manner. His audience listened most attentively and at the conclusion of his remarks he was vigorously applauded.

Entertaining vocal and musical numbers were given by the following: Nora Regan Longtin, Mrs. Stephen C. Harrington, Mrs. Russel Gould, the Sacred Heart quartet, composed of Misses John H. McMahon, James Cusick, John Kivett and Redmond Welsh, and William Hartley, Raymond Kelly, Marian McFadden, Irene Harkins and Little Dorothy and Pauline Houlihan.

Denied financial aid by the towns of Pelham, Salem and Hudson, Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway company announces that its service lines in those towns, including the connection service that existed between Moody street, Lowell and Pelham, have been permanently abandoned.

The tracks to be taken up in the spring measure about 14 miles in length. The abandonment of the car service, which went into effect Saturday night, will greatly interfere with the school system of Pelham, which was built up along the line of the street railway. It cuts off through traffic east from Nashua on the Haverhill line. In the summer it was the line taken by residents of Nashua, Hudson, Pelham and Salem to the beaches from Hampton to Old Orchard, Me., going to Haverhill by electric and then taking the steam cars.

The Nashua street railway, under a three month's lease, will run east to Hudson Centre, four miles, attending to Hudson from the Nashua end. This is only a temporary arrangement, however, and the continuance depends on the patronage. Pelham selectmen and school officials have been in consultation with the Nashua road to run a line through Pelham, offering $1000 a year aid. As there are many repairs needed at once and each ward will be asked to pay for it, no arrangements were made. For the first time for more than 30 years, the line had no running time Saturday and yesterday. Rural town residents fear that this will be the end of street railway service through their communities for some time to come.

The New Hampshire public service commission gives the Nashua street railway six months to buy the roadbed at a scrap value of $3000 a mile. After that, if not bought, the town's officials state the track must be torn up.

EGAN CLANCY, president of the Labor Alliance, characterized the celebration as a further step for politicians and office holders in control of the Irish organization here to gain notoriety by their appeals to the religious and patriotic feelings of our unfortunate people, who have been bartered and betrayed for years."

Major K. A. Kelly, an officer of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, said the parade would not be representative of the Irish population of the city.

Miss Lucy Lavallee, charged with shoplifting at the store of the A. G. Pollard Co. last Saturday, was granted a continuance until March 27 by Judge Enright in district court today. She is charged with the theft of two and three-quarters yards of cloth valued at $1.35 the yard. Florence V. Hartwell furnished surety for the defendant's appearance on the date set for trial.

CITY CLERK NEED NOT GIVE UP LICENSE FEES

BOSTON, March 17.—City Clerk Michael F. Quinn of Pittsfield need not turn into the city treasury certain fees pertaining to his office, including fees received from dog licensees, according to a ruling by Judge Pierce of the supreme court made public today. Judge Pierce dismissed a petition of Patrick H. Gorham for a writ of mandamus to compel the city clerk to turn in such fees. In the ruling the court found that the city charter does not by its own force require the city clerk to pay the fees allowed by statute into the treasury, and that he may lawfully retain them in the absence of any ordinance to the contrary.

Pres. Prout Announces Reinforcement of California Sprinter

BOSTON, March 17.—Charles Paddock, suspended California sprinter, has been reinstated by the Amateur Athletic Union. President William C. Prout made this announcement today and said that he would issue a statement on the matter later in the day.

President Prout and four other members of a special committee have been considering for some time, charges against Paddock relating to his expense accounts and to published statements attributed to Paddock concerning A.A.U. officials and athletes.

Vernon C. Lacy, president of the western division of the A.A.U. and a member of the committee made it known last Saturday night that he had voted against Paddock's reinstatement on the ground that Paddock had failed to disprove the charges.

New St. Patrick's Rectory Blessed Today With Impressive Ceremonial

Exercises at Conclusion of Solemn High Mass—Pastor Deeply Moved by Testimonial of Esteem—Eloquent Sermon on St. Patrick by Rev. Andrew McGuire, C. P.

Historic St. Patrick's in the "Acre"—the oldest Catholic parish in the city—entered upon a new era of advancement this morning when the magnificent new rectory at the corner of Suffolk and Cross streets, ground for which was broken one year ago today, was blessed with impressive ceremonial in the presence of several hundred faithful publishers.

The exercises attendant upon the blessing took place at the conclusion of a solemn high mass, celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. McGuire, D.C.L., assisted by Rev. Joseph A. Curtis as dacon: Rev. Thomas J. McDonough, as sub-deacon, and Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., as master of ceremonies. At the mass an eloquent and inspiring sermon on St. Patrick was delivered in masterful style by Rev. Andrew McGuire, C. P., of St. Gabriel's monastery, Brighton. The music of the mass was rendered by the church choir, which sang St. Cecilia's mass by Turner, under the direction of Organist Michael J. Johnson. The solo was sustained by Mrs. James Morris, Miss Frances Tuohy, John McNamee and Timothy Flanagan.

Gift of $5500

A truly genuine surprise in connection with the rectory blessing greeted the reverend pastor when he entered the chapel of the new structure and found on the altar an envelope with the inscription: "A testimonial of our esteem and affection for our beloved pastor and a pledge of our support in all his undertakings, from the people of St. Patrick's parish." The envelope contained $5500. Dr. McGuire was deeply moved by the appreciative act of the worshippers.

HEAVY FINES AND JAIL SENTENCE FOR DRUNKEN AUTO DRIVER

Ernest Yapp of Littleton, Scored by Judge Enright, Enters Appeal—Struck 3-Year-Old Girl—With Two Brothers He Resisted Arrest Following Accident

Fines totaling $160 and direct sentence of two months in the house of correction were imposed upon Ernest Yapp of Littleton, by Judge Enright, in district court this morning. It was charged that Yapp was driving an auto in the vicinity of Powell and A street, while drunk, on March 6. Little Alma Payne, three years old, of 145 A street, was struck, knocked down and run over by the Yapp machine, which was occupied by the defendant and his two brothers, Warren E. and Charles H. Yapp. When police officers arrived to investigate the accident, they were attacked and assaulted by the Yapp brothers, the three being belted up after a tussle.

Policeman Lamouroux testified that Ernest, the chief defendant, was fighting, cursing and staggering about, while drunk, on March 6, at 145 A street, was struck, knocked down and run over by the Yapp machine, which was occupied by the defendant and his two brothers, Warren E. and Charles H. Yapp. When police officers arrived to investigate the accident, they were attacked and assaulted by the Yapp brothers, the three being belted up after a tussle.

SERMON ON ST. PATRICK

Rev. A. G. Madden of St. Michael's Eulogizes Erin's Patron Saint

An eloquent and inspiring panegyric on St. Patrick, the apostle of Ireland, was delivered by Rev. Alpheus G. Madden at the high mass in St. Michael's church yesterday. Taking as his subject: "St. Patrick—Leader," Fr. Madden brilliantly narrated the various events in the life of Ireland's patron saint rejected by the Jews. The Gentiles and daughter of the Emerald Isle.

Quoting Cardinal Manning in opening, the speaker said that with the exception of St. Paul, no saint has done so much for the Catholic church as St. Patrick. Continuing, he said: "History repeats itself. Christ early in His public ministry gathered a few not overlearned individuals around him. He joined them the custodians of His truth. He sent them forth to preach the gospel of love to all creatures. He had come unto His own, and they had received, rejected Him—they were even guilty of killing Him, and new peoples were to rise up to take the places abandoned in heaven."

"It is with this apostle that Cardinal Manning compares our own apostle, St. Patrick, when he says: 'With the execution of St. Paul, no saint had done much for the Catholic church as St. Patrick, apostle of Ireland.'

"After Christ had ascended to His heavenly father, the little band of apostles began their conquest of souls in the midst of their beginnings, a new apostle—called out of due time—joined their ranks. He was St. Paul, an intrepid and zealous convert to Christianity. For years he worked and showing itself as a mighty fire of faith by the end of the tenth century. The Little Isle of Erin had not, however, felt its saving grace. The faith had fallen on the shoulders of Patrick.

"During seven years he worked, or rather slaved, for a tyrant sheep owner. But his time of imprisonment was not merely a time of labor; it was also a time of prayer. He learned the secrets of the pagan druidic worship. He mastered the Gaelic tongue, he learned to serve that he might later learn to rule.

"How well he did rule as the spiritual leader of a great people is shown by his future life. After escaping from his servitude, he studied for the priesthood and was ordained by St. Germaine. Later he was consecrated bishop and sent by Pope Celestine as apostle to Ireland.

"Thus was bequeathed to the Irish people a marvelous leader, a leader

without shedding a drop of blood led a nation into the true sheepfold—a leader who has, since the middle of the fifth century until this very day continued to be the inspiration and captain of the Irish race. Only man of character can be true leaders. Patrick was such a man. Blessed with all good qualities—yet some stand out in prominence—for he was especially a man of fortification, a man of deep humility and a man of fearless zeal. Although he had been a holy youth, he was filled with sorrow for the indiscretions of which he had been

DR. ELIOT OF HARVARD OFFERED LOCAL MILL SUPERINTENDENCY

Merrimack Mills Willing to Pay Him $5000 a Year and "Occupancy of Excellent House"—Declined and Accepted $2000 Technology Professorship in 1865

When but twenty-nine years of age Dr. Charles William Eliot, now president emeritus of Harvard university, declined an offer of $5000 a year and "the occupancy of an excellent house" to come to Lowell as superintendent of the Merrimack Mills. The distinguished educator, who celebrated his ninetieth birthday on Thursday, reveals this in his autobiography. He took a Technology professorship at the time, paying $2000 a year. Seven years later he was president of Harvard.

Dr. Eliot was in Rome, completing a study of European educational institutions and methods, just before the fall of Richmond and the close of the Civil war. Here is what Dr. Eliot says in part: "While staying in Rome in April, 1865, I heard of the assassination of Lincoln while I was attending service in the Statute chapel and received from Mr. Francis B. Crowninshield an offer of the superintendency of the Merrimack Mills in Lowell, at a salary of $5000 and with the occupancy of an excellent house. Mr. Crowninshield had known me as a teacher at Harvard college, and particularly as manager of the chemical laboratory in the Lawrence Scientific school from 1851 to 1853. This occupation was decidedly congenial and peculiarly considered as much more profitable than any college professorship in the United States at that time, but it involved the abandonment of the profession for which I had been preparing myself for 11 years. While I was discussing this grave question with my wife came the news of the fall of Richmond. After a week of deliberation I declined Mr. Crowninshield's proposal, with the entire approval of my wife."

"A few weeks later, while the family were making a short stay in Vienna, Prof. William B. Rogers of Boston offered me by letter a pro-

AMERICAN PRELATES REACH ROME

ROME, March 17.—(By the Associated Press) Archbishops Hayes of New York and Mundelein of Chicago who are to be created cardinals at the coming consistory, arrived in Rome this afternoon.

PRONOUNCED EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN

TOKIO, March 17.—A pronounced earthquake that sent inhabitants scurrying from houses, was felt today in the town of Fukushima, in northern Japan. No serious damage was reported. The seismograph at Osaka university earlier registered a severe earthquake believed to have been cental in the Kurile islands. The shocks lasted 90 minutes.

GERMAN PACIFIST LEADER ARRESTED

BERLIN, March 17.—The German pacifist leader, Prof. Quidde, of the University of Munich, has been arrested in Munich by order of the public prosecutor, in connection with a letter he is alleged to have sent Gen. Von Seeckl, commander of the Reichswehr. The letter, it is charged, contained the statement that young men were receiving military training throughout Germany under Reichswehr supervision.

2,500,000 CHILDREN ARE STARVING IN GERMANY

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Two and one-half million children in Germany are starving; sickness is still steadily increasing, and unemployment is reaching almost "unparalleled heights," the Federal Council of Churches declared today in a statement urging support for the relief campaign being conducted in the United States.

From 59 to 70 per cent. of the children in cities and industrial districts are undernourished, says the statement, and "rickets, blindness, scurvy, spinal curvature, anemia and pellagra are prevalent."

AT LINCOLN HALL

Tonight at Lincoln hall, the Montauk, one of Lowell's most popular social clubs, will conduct their annual dane and blindfolded dancing contest.

This contest will prove quite a novelty to all of Lowell's dance goers. The girls who have the smallest and best shaped feet will win the Montauk's Cinderella slippers that have been on display in the French shop on Central street for the past week. Dancing will proceed and follow the contests, with Morey's orchestra furnishing the music.

TREATING BIRD

When a bird is sick, a simple home remedy is to give it a few drops of olive oil and then feed it green leaves of cabbage, lettuce or celery tops.

ENTERING MOVIES

Dorothy McElroy, daughter of a former Mexican president, has come into the movies. She's regarded as the most beautiful woman in all Mexico. The charming señorita is a professional dancer, too. She will appear in London soon.

SAVING JUICES

When you broil meat put the meat platter on which the meat is to be served, directly under the meat and all the juice will be saved. Also it obviates the necessity of washing the dripping pan.

YES, IT'S PRETTY BIG WORLD!

up and it was on the recommendation of the inspectors that the site was chosen.

The postmaster conferred with Mr. Tepper today concerning alterations necessary to the store to have it meet with the postoffice department's regulations as to sub-postoffices and also concerning the equipment necessary for the station. Mr. Tepper agreed with the postmaster that haste is necessary in opening the station and agreed to get the equipment installed as soon as possible.

The new station will be known as the Highlands station and will be merely an office station, no carriers operating from there as in the Centralville station. It is designed to save Highlands' residents from coming to the city to deposit mail of all sorts, including registered mail, money orders and parcel post matter.

Agitation for a post office station in the Highlands district was begun at about the time the Centralville station was opened last September. Numerous residents of the district took the matter up with Congressmen Rogers and with the postmaster and it was through the concerted efforts of these two that the department in Washington finally sent inspectors here to see if such a station was necessary. The inspectors' report favored the installation of the station and several months ago bids for a site for the station were called for. With the leasing of the building the matter is out of the hands of the Washington authorities and from now on all details will be handled by Postmaster Delisle.

An Event

Announcement of a Special Portrait
Popularly Price at

$5 a dozen

This event, the result of the establishment of this studio in the present advantageous location, should be welcomed at this time with the ending of war time financial recklessness and the return of economy buying.

The artist thought planning and long preparation made for this popular priced portrait should produce a both-sided success.

THE PUBLIC is assured of a portrait with quality in its making, an appearance in which it is carefully planned, particularly to those who wish good portraits with children etc.

THE STUDIO is assured of an extended clientele and new friends.

CONFIDENCE in a clientele that has shown confidence in the results of the past 23 yrs. I am confident can still be improved upon, created on the basis to establish my studio for photographic in location on the regular streets of Lowell.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and toothache.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause no heat and pain to the stomach. They never force them to unnatural action. If you have a "dark brown mouth" —bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bed-time.

Thousands take them every night just to keep them right. Try them. 15¢ and 30¢.

Alkali In Soap Bad For the Hair

Sap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp making the hair brittle and ruined it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonsfuls is sufficient to cleanse your hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which rinses out easily leaving every particle of dust, dirt, dead skin and excess gone. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store; it is inexpensive and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months—Adv.

of advances through the great strides along scientific lines, but Jesus is the one way to God and is the one way to the solution of the world's problems today.

Rev. H. Gratton Dockrell, pastor of the Fifth Street church from 1905 to 1907, spoke at the evening service. He was reminiscing in a delightful way and described many of his experiences in later years in church work outside of Lowell.

The evening services were directed by Pastor Piper. Walter Lorman was accompanist for the choir and children's chorus. Rev. Mr. Dockrell's sermon topic was "The Secret of Being Strong and Active at Fifty." He advised the constant living of a Christian life and constant thought and love of the Creator, which, he declared, would greatly lengthen the lives of those on earth.

FIFTH STREET BAPTIST CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

Interesting services marked the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Fifth Street Baptist church society, yesterday morning and evening. "The Truth After Fifty Years" was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. Forrester A. Macdonald at the "golden service" in the morning, at 10:30. The preacher is a former pastor, Rev. Charles D. Piper, present pastor, conducted the services. The attendance was large.

A feature of the morning program was a special musical program presented by a quartet and the junior choir.

Rev. Macdonald reviewed the history of the church organization, told of the many changes that have occurred during the passing years and declared that the record of the celebrating parish proves once more that "God is in the world as he always has been." Men, he continued, may make all kinds large.

The evening services were directed by Pastor Piper. Walter Lorman was accompanist for the choir and children's chorus. Rev. Mr. Macdonald's sermon topic was "The Secret of Being Strong and Active at Fifty." He advised the constant living of a Christian life and constant thought and love of the Creator, which, he declared, would greatly lengthen the lives of those on earth.

Rev. H. Gratton Dockrell, pastor of the Fifth Street church from 1905 to 1907, spoke at the evening service. He was reminiscing in a delightful way and described many of his experiences in later years in church work outside

CATHOLIC CHURCH NEWS

Masses in Honor of St. Patrick Celebrated Today
Sunday Services

St. Patrick's day musical programs and eulogies on the patron saint of Ireland were given in connection with the services in the Catholic churches of the city yesterday.

In St. Patrick's church, members of the three local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and the ladies' auxiliary, received communion in a body at the 9:30 o'clock mass. The members met at their headquarters in the Grosvenor building at 9 o'clock and marched in the church. The mass was celebrated by Rev. James A. Supple, D.D.

Today, masses in honor of St. Patrick were celebrated at 8:30, 7:45 and 10 o'clock, the latter being a solemn high mass in conjunction with the blessing of the new rectory.

Lenten devotions will continue this week in St. Patrick's, as in all the other Catholic churches. Exercises will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30. Friday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock, confessions of the parish children will be heard.

In the Immaculate Conception church yesterday members of the junior branch of the Children of Mary, and the Third Order of St. Francis received communion at the 8 o'clock mass. At 9 o'clock this morning, a mass in honor of St. Patrick was celebrated. Lenten devotions will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock as usual.

At the 7:30 o'clock mass in St. Peter's church yesterday, members of the Mathew Temperance Institute received communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass.

The celebrant of the mass was Rev. Daniel J. Kehoe, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's and spiritual director of the Mathews. He was assisted in giving communion by Rev. Daniel J. Hefner.

A clever St. Patrick's entertainment was given in St. Michael's school hall last evening by the children of the parochial school. The hall was taxed to capacity.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning, a solemn high mass was celebrated in honor of St. Patrick. There will be Lenten services Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock and Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A regular meeting of the Propagation of the Faith society will be held,

The Holy Angels' sodality of the Sacred Heart church received communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass in that church yesterday morning. Last night in the Sacred Heart school hall, a social and entertainment was given. The principal speaker was Hon. William H. O'Brien of Boston who gave an enlightening discourse of Ireland.

This morning, masses in honor of St. Patrick were celebrated at 6, 7 and 8 o'clock, the 8 o'clock being a high mass. The Little Flower of Jesus sodality will meet Wednesday afternoon, Wednesday and Friday nights. Lenten devotions will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

The senior Holy Name society and the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion at the 8 o'clock mass in St. Michael's church yesterday. The Holy Name men held their regular meeting last evening. At the 8:30 mass, Rev. Aloysius G. Madigan preached an impressive sermon on St. Patrick.

Last evening, devotions to St. Rita were held. It was announced at all the masses that the second in the series of Lenten sermons will be given tomorrow evening at 7:30, the preacher being Rev. Dennis A. O'Brien, D.D., of St. Paul's church, Cambridge. There will also be devotions Friday afternoon and evening.

Friday evening at 7 o'clock Lenten devotions consisting of the way of the cross and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be held in the Holy Trinity Pollard church. The annual mass celebrating the feast of St. Joseph, at which the members of the young ladies' mission was opened in a body, was celebrated at 8 o'clock 8:30 o'clock. The members of the Chil-

Guild will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' sodality of St. Margareta's church will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The usual Lenten devotions will be held Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

In St. Columba's church yesterday, the pastor, Rev. John J. Powers, requested the prayers of the congregation for the repose of the soul of Rev. Thomas W. Blackley, formerly of St. Columba's, who died last week in South Boston. Several parishioners attended the funeral services of the deceased priest today.

Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I., celebrated the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning and also delivered the sermon at the 8 o'clock and the high mass at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Louis Nolin, O.M.I., celebrated the 9 o'clock mass and also sang the high mass. The women's mission, which opened last Sunday and continued throughout the week, was brought to a close at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon with the conferring of the papal blessing, recitation of the rosary, a short instruction and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Rev. Augustine Graton, O.M.I., celebrated the high mass at St. Jean Baptiste church yesterday morning, while Rev. Emile Boulud, O.M.I., delivered the sermon. Sunday school services were held at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The women's mission was opened at 8 o'clock, at which the members of the young ladies' mission was opened at 8 o'clock. The members of the Children of Mary sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Mass and instructions for the retreatants will be held at 8:30 o'clock each morning during the week.

Masses at St. Louis' church yesterday morning were celebrated at the regular hours with the high mass being sung at 11 o'clock. The women's mission was brought to a close at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Devotions, replacing Vesper services during Lent were held at 4 o'clock.

Rev. Armand Baron, O.M.I., celebrated the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Joseph's church yesterday morning and also delivered the sermon at the 8 o'clock and the high mass at 10:30 o'clock.

The members of the Notre Dame de Lourdes' sodality received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass at Notre Dame de Lourdes' church yesterday morning. Rev. Lucien Bransard, O.M.I., celebrated the high mass at 11 o'clock and Rev. Charles Paquette, O.M.I., delivered the sermon. Vesper services were held at 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

The younger girls of the parish received communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass at St. Marie's church, South Lowell, yesterday morning. Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O.M.I., pastor of the church, sang the high mass at 8:30 o'clock and also delivered the sermon.

Vesper services were held at 6:30 o'clock.

Rev. Aurelio Morelli, O.M.I., sang the high mass at St. Jeanne D'Arc's church yesterday morning, and Rev. Leon Landry, O.M.I., pastor of the church, delivered the sermon. The women's mission was brought to a close at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The young ladies' mission opened at 6:30 o'clock.

WILL ADDRESS
LOWELL EAGLES

George R. Strine, past worthy president of York, Penna. aerie of Eagles, will address a meeting of members of Lowell aerie and their lady friends in Liberty Hall, Thursday evening. Mr. Strine was the principal speaker at a meeting held in Eagles hall recently and made a decided hit with members of the aerie. A musical entertainment under the direction of Brother James E. Donnelly will also be given at this meeting.

A regular meeting of the aerie will be held tomorrow evening, at which time the drive for Thomas F. Quinn class will be the principal topic of discussion. The slogan of the drive is "Get one member" and the results so far have been very satisfactory.

PROSPECTIVE FRANCES HALLOWE

The way to the altar has been made easy for Helen Heckman, Muskogee (Okla.) dancer. Two years ago she earned off honors in a national beauty contest. Since then a steady stream of love epistles has been arriving at the home of the "most-proposed-to girl in Oklahoma." A young ranchman encloses an amorous poem he made up as he milked his cows. A struggling musician encloses a sheet of a song he composed in her honor. A man of 60, deaf like herself, thinks a "perfect union could be formed by two deaf people." Even clergymen seek her hand. But Miss Heckman, regarded as one of the prettiest young women in America, declaring wedding bells are not going to ring for her. She's married to her career, she says.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

RADIO THEATRE

The old home town will be recalled by a lot of persons who view "Doubts Dealing," the Universal comedy in which Bert Lahr is starred, which opened at the Blatto theatre today. The story has its setting in a rural village and all the "folks" are there. Most of all in the highlight of the production is Bert Lahr's brilliant performance of the town dray store. He is mostly in the limelight because he owes just about everybody in the community. This offers a little different angle on small town life as it is really the case than just about everybody in town over the town drayman.

The village "boiled" is there, and she would do credit to any girl from home town. The sad part of it is that the native girl fail to capture the young lady and all outside who has been around and seen the world walks into the little hamlet and "elopes" out with her. That's the point of realism which is so important in the well-rehearsed comedies. There is also the town rector who has one hand in his own pocket and the other in the public's. He is a careful "lender" and an expert "foreclosed." Bert Lahr has attained a recognized place among the prominent dramatic stars of the screen. And there is no doubt about his being a real "dean" of the screen. His was the all important cowboy championship at Pendleton, Oregon, the greatest honor of western cattleland, and has received the token of the "world's greatest cowboy." But when Bert lastly raises his eyes from the book he is reading and meets his motion picture public in the role of Ben Stowbell, he looks like the lost lamb. The comedy is so dead and the character so poor that no matter that he would break a camel's back laughing at the first word.

The companion feature is "Madeline the Magician" starring Charles and Pauline Young. This picture tells a good story of how a beautiful young girl has herself ensnared into a continual blackmail affair and how she extricates herself. Supporting Miss Young are Bentley Gordon and Glad Windlock, two leading screen artists.

"The Current News Reel," a four-reel newsreel news events film and the real Fox News are also included in the program.

THE STRAND

The most big story ever written from stage to screen is "The Wicked City," Sir Hall Caine's immortal novel, adapted to the screen and being shown daily at The Strand during the first part of the week. It was produced by George Farnum and directed entirely in Hollywood with a notable cast which includes Barbara La Marr, Richard Dix, James Cagney, Edmund Lowe, Bert Lytell and others. The other features on the bill is a Charlie Chaplin classic, "The Adventurer," and Baby Peggy in "Peg of the Mountain." With such an array of talent on the program, the patrons of the screen will surely go in droves to the worth while spot to enjoy. And don't forget that Strand comfort is always an added feature of all attractions at Lowell's biggest and best theatre.

B. F. KEEFUS' THEATRE

The bill at the B. F. Keith theatre this week will hold nothing good but perhaps, in the forepart of them all, that is by Wilfred Clark & Co., called "What Now?" Mr. Clark is a very nice American newscaster of the London Daily Mail, British and Canadian of famous British drama. One of the most distinguished players in vaudeville today, Charles Crafts and Jack Haley will appear in "Laughing Day" and Eddie Weber and Marlowe Fairbanks are two of the very popular stars on the stage. Their work is equal and Johnstone, Ted Rome and Harry Dunn, who have appeared with many of the best quartets, will give an extra variety singing set, and Niles is a comedian who will demonstrate his other comic ability to the water. The B. F. Keith will open his "Bargains" this Friday feature in

GAS AT A SECOND'S NOTICE

Gas is coal stripped for action, with all the labor, ashes, dirt and muss removed.

Gas is the most reliable fuel. It's more reliable than coal or oil. To prove this statement just ask your coal dealer or your oil dealer what his additional charge will be to guarantee for the next few years to deliver day or night at your home, in less than one second's notice, any quantity of fuel you wish.

No one will make a contract like that - no one except your Gas company. And it close the contract when it installs a meter in your home. Gas service puts an end to fuel worries, price fluctuations, transportation troubles, storage, insurance and many other vexatious problems.

Taking all these things into consideration, is it any wonder that about one-half of the population of the United States uses Gas service. Above all nations, America appreciates a good thing when it sees it.

St. Patrick's Day

What a union of hearts in the love of a mother! What a ricer of men in her name uniting pride of old Erin, and love of each other.

The bounds of the glen are full tonight!

The millions of men have one toast

With one topic:

Their hands held aside and their envies

In the lines of the Pote to the palms

They drink: "The dear land we have

They are one by the bond of a time-honored tradition.

The grandeur may be out the depth of their feast,

But such lies the symbol of faith and of lesson.

At the Pagan and Christian epoch.

When native laws by nature kings

And gods were worshipped.

With the form of Erin's crest,

The sun, life-giver, was dethroned high;

He was ousted the power they saw;

And they have the faith as the ages

By the system Pagan law.

Even now on the Holy Day, was quenched.

The household fires of the land;

And the Druid priest, at the midnight hour,

Brought forth the flaming brands;

The spark for the Nation's hearth.

From the Monarchs hand it came,

Whose arm at last spread the sign

And the people were One by the hand!

And Erin was won; till Patrick came,

By the Holy Name inspired.

On the Beltane night, in great Tara's

shant,

His pile at Slane was fired.

And the dead, but death was the name.

At the dawn of the Pagan ban;

For Erin still keeps Beltane night;

But lights her lamp at Slane!

Through fourteen centuries pile their dust.

On the mound of the Druid's grave,

Tongt is the Beltane! Bright the fire,

The Holy Patrick gave!

Tongt in the Beltane! Let him heed

Who studied creed and race;

Old times and gods are dead, and we

Are far too far the ancient place;

The waves of centuries, war, and waste,

Of famine, gallows, and gaol;

Have swept our land; but the world

Sees the Beltane fire of the Gael!

God of old fate like a desolate queen,

Who remembers in sorrow the crown

Of her glory;

The loss of thy children not strangely

Is seen;

For humanity weeps at thy heart,

Strong heart in affliction that draweth

Thy tears;

The heat too, more dear than

Thine own generation;

Thy strength is increased as they live,

Thy current flow;

What were death to another is free-

hood's salvation;

God grants her sons like the seed on the sun;

And they root where they fall, be it

Rooted of tomorrow;

They come to remain and remember;

In their growth will rejoice in a blissful remembrance!

They sing in strains hounds the sweet song of their home;

Thine herald Zion enthroned in the hollow;

To work, not to wisp by the river;

They come;

Their lamps are not hanged in despair

At the gates of Hades;

The hope of the mother beats youthful and strong;

Responsive and true to her children's petitions;

No petrified heart has she saved from the wrong;

Our Niles lives for her place 'mong

the nations!

Then drink all her songs—she they Celtic or Danish, or Norman or Saxon—one mantle was

of use;

Let come lines, and creed lines, and every line vanish;

We drink at the third—up—the Mother that bore us!

CATE VOLUNTARILY

ATHENS, March 17.—A semi-official statement confirms newspaper reports that an agreement has been reached among the political leaders presiding over the conditions under which King George, exiled at Rhodes, will be allowed to abdicate voluntarily.

These include the right to retain the title of king for life, power to draw four-fifths of his civil list, allow once the right to dispose freely of the crown dominions, excepting the Tatoi palace, which the state will buy, and renunciation of the rights of succession to all members of the dynasty.

"IRISH NIGHT" PROGM

BY SOUTH END CLUB

"Irish Night" was celebrated by the members of the South End Club last evening with all the old time color and vim and a little bit more. It was one of the most enjoyable observances of a pre-St. Patrick's day eve conducted in Lowell by an Irish social organization, attendance being to the largest ever and the program of entertainment the finest that members and laymen could produce for its spiritual justification and remembrance of a great Irish name.

The entertainment included selections by Miner & Doyle's orchestra, roles by John E. Roane, Sr., solo and monologues by Joseph Percy of the B. P. Kilkenny circuit; Charles Carey, son; Frank Glutz, recitations; James Lyons, solos; Douche and Ball, gels and sketches.

A special buffet luncheon with delectable dishes for all present and some who were not able to attend was the big feature of "Irish Night." The waiters had their hands full, but the traffic was plenty.

The committee handling the annual celebration in splendid style was headed by Chairman Dan O'Brien, John F. Roane, James O'Brien, and Cornelius Shea.

Major John J. Donovan, an invited guest, was present and spoke, bringing the city's official greeting. John H. McDonald delivered a historical address of unusual interest on "The Activities of the Irish in America."

J. Joseph Hennessy, the evening's principal speaker, reviewed the long and glorious history of Ireland.

Others who spoke on Irish topics of interest to the son of Ireland assembled last evening included ex-Mayors James E. O'Connell, Dennis J. Murphy, and Percy Thompson, Rep. Thomas J. Conroy, Councilor Mortimer, Sadler, and Andrew Barrett.

Five Ways to Save Gas

"Anyone can boil water!"

True enough, but there are still a good many people who use more gas than is necessary. Real economy in all forms of cooking means doing the job with the smallest possible amount of gas. Here are a few hints that will help you save gas.

1—Always cover the kettle. "A watched pot never boils." Keep the covers on tight. This means quicker results.

2—Don't heat more water than is needed.

3—Keep the scale from the inside of kettles. This acts as an insulator and means the use of more gas to bring the contents to a boil.

4—After the water begins to boil reduce the flames. Water in an ordinary kettle cannot be heated beyond the boiling point. A small flame will keep it at that heat.

5—Use containers that are larger than the burners. This insures getting the full use of all the flames against the kettle.

Unconsciously, an otherwise careful housekeeper often wastes gas. By following these suggestions, you will get the full use of all the gas for which you pay. That really is what the Lowell Gas Light Company wants—not only to furnish the gas, but to help you to use it without waste.

WILL ADDRESS MASS
MEETING IN LOWELL

Edward A. Ellone, prominent Boston business man and philanthropist, has been proposed as the principal speaker at a mass meeting to be held here in the near future, in the interest of the fund for the relief of German children. Preliminary steps have already been taken to secure the services of Mr. Ellone and in all probability Congressman John Jacob Rogers will also be a speaker at this meeting.

A meeting of the Lowell committee of the relief fund will be held this evening at 5 o'clock, in the chamber of commerce rooms, at which plans for the mass meeting and other matters concerning the local committee's drive for funds will be discussed.

WINS $100 FOR
SCOFFLAW ANTONYM

"There's it again. 'Scofflaw' has its funnies first; now comes 'chubug,' which has different meaning."

Joseph French, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick French of East Chelmsford, has just been awarded $100 for contributing a new word to the dictionary of those who are opposed to prohibition. The antonym was picked out of a series of 30,000 words entered in the contest. Mrs. Ross Scott of Sungatuck, Connecticut, inaugurated the contest, can, referring to the inability of a Catholic to be loyal to his country, he said: "The absurdity of this statement dispose of the question. But let me say that the Catholics in the American army doubled their quota. The first boy to die in the field of battle was a Catholic parochial school boy, and, the last man to die before the enemy's fire was a Catholic priest. Because we are subject to a higher power, because we believe in a God, we are misunderstood and told we cannot be loyal to our country. Because we are loyal to our country, loyal to our God and loyal to our faith, we are better citizens of the United States. Every Catholic is a loyal citizen because he is such under the commandments of God."

Speaking of various parties, he mentioned the National Woman's party, which cries "Equal rights for women." "The weakness of this party is shown to the fact that no conference between the League of Catholic Women and representatives of the National Women's party, the leading members gave the party leave to withdraw. Massachusetts will never be dominated by that party, and I thank God for it!" said Mr. Slattery.

Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, chaplain of the league addressed the members and congratulated them on the fine program given by the orchestra and the choral club. Fr. Curtin also urged the continuance of the good work by the members and the need of co-operation on all sides, in order that the high standard shall be maintained.

The musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye, was as follows:

- "Hail! Glorious Apostles"
- "Leaps, directed by Mrs. J. J. Murphy
- "The Shamrock," Irish Melodies Orchestra
- "The Sweetest Story Ever Told"
- Medley of Irish Airs
- Choral Club
- "Macushla"
- "Last Days of Summer"
- Mr. Nora Regan Longtin
- Vocal trio, "Those Endearing Young Charms"
- Mrs. Stephen Garrity, Mrs. Frank Batchelder, Miss Margaret Griffin
- Finale, Gems from Mariana
- Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. John J. Giblin

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Annually the arrival of St. Patrick's day brings up recollections of mingled joy and sorrow to the people of the Irish race wherever found. The events of the past few years, resulting in ruthless destruction of some of the most treasured landmarks in the country, not to speak of the loss of life and terror brought to the people by the orgies of civil war, will make one of the darkest pages in Ireland's history. The present situation under the division of the country into north and south, without any common bond of union for co-operation in the interests of a united nation, is not at all ideal or satisfactory to those who sought a real measure of national freedom, if not complete independence for Ireland as an undivided nation, but civil strife in the south can only prolong the day when orange and green will happily blend for the benefit of Ireland as a nation.

The Free State government is doing all in its power to bind up the nation's wounds, to restore normal conditions and start the part of the country under its jurisdiction on a new era of peace and prosperity. With this end in view, the officials are doing practically all that is humanly possible in the face of a great many obstacles. One of these is the vast amount of debt piled up as a result of the civil strife, and growing mainly out of damage claims for property destroyed. The total is estimated at $48,000,000 which is an almost intolerable burden to be borne by the Free State only in its infancy. In spite of this, however, the officials have come out and declared their intention to pay off the bond issue secured a few years ago from the people of the United States. This shows good faith and a laudable desire to maintain Ireland's honor in strict fidelity to the pledges of her former leaders, many of whom are now in their graves. It may be said, however, that very few of those who purchased these Irish bonds had any hope or desire of getting their money back. In most cases, the amounts subscribed were offered by the donors as a free gift to the cause of Irish freedom. A considerable portion of the entire amount is still involved in litigation between the officials of the Free State and the remnants of the republican irreconcilables, the latter claiming that they should have the balance still held in the banks.

It is useless to indulge in speculation as to what might have been accomplished if Redmond's home rule bill had been put into operation when passed, or if Ireland had accepted in good faith the Free State's treaty and made the most of it, pending the time when, with a greater population, an Irish army and prosperous industries, the north would have been obliged to join hands with the south in working for the peace, happiness and prosperity of a united Ireland. It seems that every true lover of Ireland will long for the day when this happy consummation will be attained and when all the people without sectional distinction will be united under a single national government that will always stand for the freedom, the progress and the perpetuation of the Irish nation.

WILL ADAMS SUBSIDE?

Certain republican newspapers are now naturally condemning Chairman John T. Adams of the republican national committee because of his recent attacks on senators who used the removal of Secretary Denby and Attorney General Daugherty from the cabinet.

Adams has been using the publicity department of his committee in headquarters attacks on senators, including some republicans in his defense of Daugherty and Denby. He has quieted down a little since Denby's removal, but he is still making trouble for the leaders on the assumption that it is his role to shape the policies of the party rather than to manipulate the political machinery.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

A good many people in this city are watching with considerable interest the movement for the organization of the Community Chest as proposed by the local chamber of commerce. Already preliminary steps have been taken toward the establishment of such a bureau for meeting the needs of local charities and thus crystallizing the efforts of the charity workers of the city for a common purpose which is to supply the needs of the worthy poor so far as the resources available will permit.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Tom
Sims
Says

About that the time for automobile to unjam their cars and join the highway throng has arrived a few pointers from the general laws are given in the registrar of motor vehicles booklet may prove helpful in the avoidance of accidents: Vehicles shall be driven on the right side of the traveled way; vehicles going in the same direction and passing should turn to the left; vehicles must be kept on the right side of traveled way where there is not an unobstructed view of the road for about 100 yds.; fire apparatus, police patrols and ambulances and hospital ambulances have the right of way through any street, way, lane or alley; and at intersections the right has the right of way provided that such vehicles are arriving approximately the same instant. It is also legislated that "no person shall travel on a way with a sleigh or sled drawn by a horse, unless there are at least three bells attached to some part of the harness."

A night-cap is the best thing for avoiding colds and rheumatism. So claims Sir James Cawle, celebrated authority on health. His name is most appropriate. Thirsty readers will be disappointed to learn that the nightcap he refers to is, not a whisky toddy, but a flannel cap for the head. Those were used by nearly everyone, old things always return, if you just give them enough time. History is a revolving wheel.

The talking movie attempted many times is now perfected and soon will be exhibited to public audiences. So announces Prof. James J. Nelligan, who credits General Electric Co. with perfection of the machine said to synchronize movie films and spoken words. Will people prefer movies combined with speech? A peculiar charm of the movies is in their silence.

To make a drinking glass was required from four to seven hours. Now it is done in 11 minutes, by new machine at the Libbey plant in Toledo.

One machine makes 1,200,000 tumblers a week, so strong that one inverted tumbler supports 976 pounds of iron.

Machinery like this takes the place of a lot of human labor. But every one gains in the long run. The labor formerly employed is released for making other articles. So, each month, more and more articles come into general use steadily raising the standard of living.

In the early days of radio broadcasting, a year or more ago, the M.A.T. was jolted considerably by his friends because of his enthusiasm over this so-called "fad." It is with great pleasure that he sees those who were always joshing him staying at home nights now listening-in on their receiving sets and also seeing them standing on the corners after their day's work is done, comparing radio receiving conditions of the previous evening. A year ago radio enthusiasts were few and far between; at the present time those who are not radio-philes in this great science are few and far between.

One of the most recent additions to the ranks of the radio "bugs" is Henry H. Harris, headmaster of the high school. Mr. Harris purchased a four-tube set some few weeks ago during that static and interference infected period all radio enthusiasts will remember. His first attempts at listening were unsatisfactory and his plaint to me coming down on the car in the morning was always, "I couldn't get a thing but a few local stations and they sounded like a phonograph record played with a worn-out needle." After the bad wind passed Mr. Harris became quite cheerful. Now he has mastered the control of his set and counts the evening long when he fails to hear several good concerts from stations at least 1000 miles from Lowell.

Albert D. Mack, head of the commercial department at the school, is an older hand at the radio game. He has built several sets and now owns one he bought ready-made. It is a three-tube affair as contrasted to Mr. Harris' four-tube set, but uses a different hook-up. In his opinion, the sky is the limit in regards to stations for radio reception and he is one of the very few in New England who claim to have received a London station in the recent British trans-Atlantic trials.

When the men teachers of the high school gather in groups during the recess periods and after school, the one main topic of discussion is radio. Most of the men have sets in their own homes and lament the fact that the school is not equipped with a radio receiving set at least. One of the best sets on the market, they say, costs about $350 fully equipped and it seems as though it would be worth that much money to equip the physics department with a set so the actual practice of radio, as well as the theory, could be taught.

It is hoped that the illness of Senator Walsh of Montana will not be of long duration, as otherwise some re-publican whitewasher may be drafted to take his place on the investigation committee.

And now at the trial of the General Court, we are to have an investigation of the price of gasoline. Let us hope that our officials will not be linked with the oil scoundrels in Washington.

Violins, Esther Mulligan, Alice McLaughlin, Gertrude Mulligan, Helen Constance, Anna Mulligan, Helen Constance, Anna Hickley, drums, Mary O'Neill, xylophones, Gertrude Mulligan, Florence Mulligan, banjo, Kathleen Balfrey, Mary Rourke, piano, Anna Donohoe forth learned scholars to be teachers of the world. Missionaries left for the continent. He had planted a faith that was never to waver even under the most dreadful and diabolical persecutions that ever assailed human beings. Although Patrick converted without the shedding of blood, yet the fruit of that conversion—the Irish hearts—were to be drenched in sorrow and blood for more than 700 years. "After Patrick's death, Ireland was so holy and so learned that it has been called the Isle of Saints and Scholars. The three predominant qualities of St. Patrick have found ready soil in Irish hearts, for today it can be said of them that they have potential hearts, humble souls and fearless zeal. Patrick's children are today everywhere. What is more, they have carried the torch of faith with them in their wanderings. Patrick prayed that "His children might remain firm in the faith forever." His prayer thus far has been answered.

At the close of the program Supt. Gormley, after thanking the members of the club for their generosity, gave a brief yet interesting talk on St. Patrick.

Yes, St. Patrick, the greatest apostle since St. Paul, has been and always will be the leader of the Irish people. How boldly proud should we be to be numbered amongst his children.

That great faith planted by St. Patrick courses in our veins. The blood of saints, martyrs and scholars flows with it. Our enemies have stood at the gates and chanted aloud the faults of our people. They have not praised our glories. But I tell you that we are from a race of which we may justly be proud. We and our brothers have been called the sons of God. We and our brothers have been born again without the shedding of blood. A whole nation embraced the Catholic religion. Aye, not only embraced it, but plucked it deep in their daily lives. The people of Ireland welcomed him as a true prophet. They drank in his words of eternal truth. They gave his truth in their blood to their offspring. They crooned their children to sleep with Irish hymns, they walked them and sent them on their journeys with God's blessing.

Like St. Patrick, we may all be leaders if we but heed his example. Urge forever forward. Take advantage of what the church gives you. That was St. Patrick's way. Do not be beaten by others who are not better than you. That was not St. Patrick's way. Do not be led by the followers of the prince of darkness, but lead others into the truth which you possess. Keep always aloft the torch of faith, pricing it as a beautiful gift from St. Patrick's hands. Perish rather than let it perish, and be always as St. Patrick, the leader of men in all things, especially in the things of God. Heed the example and life of St. Patrick, then one day you will be numbered among the saints and scholars who once peopled Ireland, and now people heaven.

Keep a "log" showing the points on all diets of any nations you may go to.

CHIEF PRESENTS REQUISITIONS FOR NEW FIRE APPARATUS

Again Asks for 5-Ton Tractor and Triple Combination Pumps for New Oaklands and Fourth Street Stations— Engine 3 Now Disabled

New requisitions to cover the purchase of three pieces of motor fire apparatus—a tractor for the aerial truck at Palmer street and triple combination pumps for the new Oaklands house and for the Fourth street house—have been submitted to the mayor by Chief Edward P. Saunders. In each instance the chief favors the White, although no special make of machine is specified upon the requisitions. Until the fire department appropriation is voted for the year no action will be taken upon them, although the purchase of a pump for the Oaklands is provided for in the figures as presented by the mayor.

Engine 3, the Robinson triple combination pump at Palmer street, has about it. Just said that his splendid bunch of lads in B Battery rank and file wanted to maintain their record, which has always been high with other fighting legions of the state at large. And 100 members is 100 members.

Outside of Lowell, the situation is far different. Enlistments in the "M.N.G." have been falling off steadily in many branches of the soldier volunteer service for many months past. State military authorities have been diligently advertising the fact and beseeching organization commanders to get busy. Late last fall the situation appeared to be growing serious and extraordinary efforts were made in the campaign for recruits.

Many organizations succeeded in filling required federal quotas, but there are still many state trooper organizations that are far below required standards.

Capt. Faneuf said today that B battery has been for some time past regularly within the "federal recognition stipulations," as they are called. That means 100 men or better, and B battery's commander has his batterymen of the line and naturally feeling quite cocky today and no mistakes.

And yet it won't go long ago when Faneuf and his staff of battery officers were working day and night in an effort to fill the battery rosters shortly after the World war armistice. Of course you couldn't expect even dyed-in-the-wool patriots to turn up any roads to Westford street armory after that catastrophe in Europe, but all the same, B battery has never stumbled down the membership ladder very far and when it did there was always a quick rebound back to the top and frequently over the top.

B Battery Roll 100

State headquarters has notified all guardmen that the campaign to enlist enough men to fill all guard organizations' quotas must continue with unabated energy. B battery is, of course, exempted from this latest command.

The campaign at headquarters reports that during the past week three other state units of the guard have been reported to the militia bureau as having fallen below the strength entitling them to continue to hold federal recognition. No report of action on these three delinquent organizations has as yet been received from the Bureau.

A new enlistment chart has been started, showing by means of colored pins the comparative strength of all units in the guard. A blue pin indicates the unit in whose square that pin is found has an enrollment equal to or above the minimum required to hold federal recognition. A plain red pin denotes the fact that the unit pinned has fallen below the 10 per cent allowance—a sort of warning pin. A red and white striped pin denotes a unit that is below the danger line and liable at any time to be reported as such to the militia bureau. Black and white striped pins mean probation.

The prevailing tinge of the state house chart today is red—denoting danger—but that doesn't bother Captain Faneuf and the boys in B battery, who are sailing high and outside the trouble zone of "the big chief" flying the blue O. K. emblem.

National guard commands all over the commonwealth have been ordered to gather up all old, disused and surplus military equipment and turn it in to the state arsenal storages without further delay. B Battery is preparing to clean up all military goods not wanted in times of peace and expects to forward thousands of dollars worth now on hand and idle.

Over in the storage quarters labelled "B" are spare rations, harnesses by the dozen, wheels, battery "extras," straps, tools, raw material in the steel and leather, saddle blankets, ropes, chains etc., all of which the battery boys have got to tackle pretty soon, pack up neatly in separate bundles and ship them all to the car.

The special camp of instruction for officers of the 102d Field Artillery will be held from May 16 to May 18 at Camp Devens. This is the preparatory schedule for the annual encampment of all the artillery units in the state.

Battery Athletics Winners

The battery basketball team has been defeating all comers this winter. Saturday night Battery C of Lawrence was again for the second time in succession properly trimmed. B Battery leading the score 12 to 23, the fastest game of the season. Basketball has been the rage this winter all over the field artillery lines too. Lowell battery men captured two hand-fought games from Company D, 192d Infantry. Company K of the 102d also went down to defeat at the hands of the champions on Westford street. One game went to Company B.

The local battery men have also won for the second year the Lowell chamber of commerce shield trophy for best pistol marksmanship. The hand bowling trophy has also been won by the local battery men, who kept right on and captured for the second time the season's honors in the basketball field, holding on to the handsome trophy donated by William

SEN. LA FOLLETTE CAPT. DEEMING FOUND FOR PRESIDENT SHOT TO DEATH

If Convention Nomination and Platform Be Reactionary He Will Be Candidate

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin will accept third party nomination for the presidency if the republican convention at Cleveland next June nominates President Coolidge and adopts a "conservative" platform.

Senator La Follette is discouraging his friends from making a fight for him in the republican convention, but has indicated to them that should the Cleveland nomination and platform be reactionary from the viewpoint of his group, he will not look with disfavor upon third party nomination.

SOME DIET RESULTS

It is really remarkable what a change good eating, accompanied by thorough chewing of food, will do for the betterment of your bodily health.

In hasty eating one does not really get the true taste or flavor of food. Careful tasting by retaining the food in the mouth until all the goodness of taste has been obtained is a great satisfier.

The real value of this process is that one is satisfied with a less amount of food and overeating is thereby avoided.

The real help of a reducing diet is not only a loss of the non-working fat, but in overcoming many other bodily diseases. It is well known, in cases of obesity that the heart, lungs, liver and kidneys are frequently the sufferers. The relief experienced in the working of these organs from a satisfactory reducing diet is worth all the time one may give to it.

In thirty-one cases out of forty, where investigation was carried out in a large city hospital, it was found that dieting, besides reducing the weight, also reduced the blood pressure.

The improvement in respiration was also distinct gain through this dieting program. Shortness of breath and wheezing were stopped. Excessive sweating was also corrected.

In sixteen cases out of forty, serious bad trouble had developed through overeating and lack of proper exercise. The reducing diet corrected every one.

B Battery goes to Camp Devens for annual two weeks' tour of duty, starting July 5. If memory serves us, we used to like to visit Camp Devens when the Lowell battery men took possession of the old training grounds in former years, and we wouldn't wonder if we paid them another visit next July, if the boss is willing.

BOSTON, March 17.—Captain John J. Deeming of the United States army quartermasters corps was found shot to death in his office at the Army Base in South Boston at 8:15 this morning. Army officials believe he committed suicide.

The body of Captain Deeming was found in the chair at his desk in the quartermasters department, of which he had charge. A bullet had passed through the head from above the right ear and there was a second bullet wound in the left breast near the heart. Near the body lay a .38-caliber revolver of a type not used in the service. Two letters were discovered, one addressed to the captain's wife, at 5322 Girard avenue, San Diego, Calif., the other to his superior officer, Col. William E. Horton. The latter note, it was learned, told of the captain's worry over his private affairs and his intention to kill himself.

Captain Deeming was seen to enter the army base at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, an unusual hour for him to appear there. Investigating officials said that they thought he had shot himself first in the breast and had then put a bullet through his head when he found he was still conscious.

A preliminary examination of office records showed no shortage in the captain's accounts or cash. The safest to officers and enlisted men are heavy at this base and there was generally cash amounting to several thousand dollars in the safe.

Captain Deeming was born in England in 1878 and enlisted in the army from New Jersey, as a private in 1898. He served in the Spanish-American war as a sergeant in the 20th Kansas regiment, and in the World war was in charge of the loading of transports at Hoboken, N. J. For the last few months he had lived at a boarding house in the Worcester district.

Captain and Mrs. Deeming had one son.

A board of officers headed by Col. Ernest Rutherford of the medical corps, was ordered to make an investigation of the shooting.

Before lead can be manufactured, the silver and gold must be extracted from the ore and the other impurities removed.

The improvement in respiration was also distinct gain through this dieting program. Shortness of breath and wheezing were stopped. Excessive sweating was also corrected.

In sixteen cases out of forty, serious bad trouble had developed through overeating and lack of proper exercise. The reducing diet corrected every one.

How To Keep A Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents

thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching at elimination occurs regularly, two or three times a day. Mrs. J. Russell of 19,141 Havanna Ave., Detroit, Mich., keeps her family of two young children in perfect health with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin, and Mrs. R. L. Smith of 519 Maple Ave., East Pittsburgh, Pa., says her family of three children have never been sick a day since giving them Syrup Pepin.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin is a scientific compound of Egyptian saffron with pepin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Syrup Pepin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Syrup Pepin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

GREAT FEAT OF SOVIET DIPLOMACY

MOSCOW, March 17.—(By the Associated Press) The Russian newspapers consider the Russo-Chinese rapprochement a great feat of Soviet diplomacy and as significant of the future "liberation of the Chinese from foreign control." The Workers' Gazette points out that Turkey, after resuming relations with Soviet Russia, developed nationalistically until strong enough to throw off the foreign yoke and suggests that the Chinese agreement is equally important. Izvestia, the official newspaper, says Russia now becomes a factor in the future relationships on the Pacific ocean, which is rapidly becoming an international arena.

RATCHIN SMASHES GYM RECORD IN 300-YARD RUN AT Y. M. C. A.

Kargas Equals Old Record Mark in Ruining High Jump—Local Athletes Take First in All But One Event—Lawrence Team Trails

The Merrimack Valley sectional meet at the Y.M.C.A., Saturday, attracted some fine athletic talent to the association gym and stem competition marked the dual meet with Lawrence, the local Y men winning by 16 points to 13, taking all but one first. The meet served as an elimination medium for the big two-state meet to be held in the Boston Y, Huntington and Massachusetts avenues, next Saturday. Athletes from this state and Rhode Island will compete for supremacy under the Red Triangle on that day. Hatchet of the local Y was the outstanding star of Saturday's meet, doing 300 yards on the circular banked track in 40 seconds flat, setting a new record for the gym. This is the time for such a difficult track and great things are looked for from him next Saturday. Kargas of Lowell equalled his own record in the running high jump.

Frank Sawyer, assistant to Physical Director C. E. Towne, was clerk of the course. Harry Barton was scorer and James Cookson of Lawrence, starter. Percy Douglas, Postmaster, Atkinson and H. L. Clark from Lawrence, judges. The inspectors were John Purcell and Robert D. Morris. Douglas and Morris acted as timers. C. E. Towne was referee. The summaries follow:

200 Yard Dash

Won by Douglas, Lowell; Spence 2nd, Ratchin 3rd; time, 3 sec.

3 Standing Broad Jumps

Won by Tzannatatos; Douglas 2nd, Spence 3rd, all of Lowell; distance, 22 ft. 4 1/2 in.

8 Potato Race

Won by Douglas, Lowell; Calderone, Lawrence 2nd; Kargas, Lowell, 3rd; time, 35-3-5 sec.

12 ft. Shot Put

Won by Sarris, Lowell; Leonin, Lawrence 2nd; Kargas, Lowell, 3rd; distance, 38 ft. 5 in.

300 Yard Run

Won by Ratchin, Lowell; Priscoll, Lawrence, 2nd; Calderone, Lawrence, 3rd; time, 40 sec.

Running High Jump

Won by Kargas, Lowell; Emmert, Lawrence, 2nd; Tzannatatos, Lowell, 3rd; height, 5 ft. 6 in.

600 Yard Run

Won by Walsh, Lawrence; Bishop, Lowell, 2nd; Nevin, Lawrence, 3rd; time, 5 min. 32 sec.

Heavy Haze

Won by Lowell; time 1 min. 4-3-5 sec. Douglas, Hansen, Spence and Ratchin.

Big Delegation Going to Lynn to Root for Billy Murphy This Evening

"Few Pounds of Flesh" Prevented Tommy Leahy From Becoming N. E. Champion

A large number of Lowell boxing fans will make the trip to Lynn tonight to witness the Billy Murphy vs. Al Shubert bout at the Casino A.C.

In remembering the former great battles between the pair which was fought in Lowell several months ago another hectic number is looked for. Murphy has been training for several weeks in preparation for the bout and went from his headquarters last night to the best condition of his career.

Shubert, who was disappointed over his reverse at the hands of the boxer boy, is out to turn the tables and now Bedford reports say the veteran never works harder in getting ready for a bout.

Tenley vs. Gradwell

A few pounds of flesh" kept Tommy Leahy of Worcester, who is to meet Willie Gradwell of Somerville in the main bout of Thursday night, from making the fast rounds. Leahy was always over the mark and hence Leahy, though better several times by the Worcesterster, still retained his title.

Leahy also holds victories over Johnny Clinton, Johnny Shure, Jimmy Fruzzetti and many others of equal class. He has cleaned up about all the good lightweight in this vicinity, his only defeat in recent months coming at the hands of the Worcester "Scoops" White, but he gave the latter a stiff fight all the way.

This evening will mark his first appearance in a local ring. He is anxious to get away to a good start here and while he realizes he is not a match for the American league last year he has had a hard time on the Sailor Byron, winning over the champion several times, but never could attain the title because of his inability to get down to the 135 pound mark.

Some reports say that Byron insisted as one of the terms of agreeing to meet Leahy that the latter could not come in at 135, but he did as it may, the fast rounds. Leahy was always over the mark and hence Leahy, though better several times by the Worcesterster, still retained his title.

STAR AMATEUR TEAMS IN BASKETBALL SERIES

ST. ANNE'S A. C. BASKETBALL TEAM

The big series between Lowell's premier amateur basketball outfit, the St. Anne's A.C., and the "Y" Highland quintet will get under way at the Crescent rink next Wednesday night, when the rival aspirants for the amateur championship line up for the first of their three games. Since the announcement went two weeks ago that the series arrangements had been completed, neither team has engaged in a competitive game as the catches wished to condition their men for the series and avoid the possibility of injuries. The Highlanders displayed such superiority that the subs were sent in to finish out the second half.

In Bruce Douglas, the quintet boasts of one of the mightiest basket shooters in this part of the country. His work in comparison to that of St. Anne's both of whom established records this season for individual shooting, will be authority on basketball matters.

Frank Sawyer, physical instructor at the Y.M.C.A. is the coach of the Highland outfit and a recognized authority on basketball matters.

With the count standing two to one in favor of the Cadets, a great battle is expected. The Cadets are out to increase their advantage and move a step near the city championship. They realize the task before them, knowing well that the Butlers fight hardest when the odds are against them. Hence while confident of the outcome, they will enter the series determined to play their usual steady game and they hope to emerge from the contest on the long end of the score.

The Butler crew has put in a lot of work and has figured out a plan of attack which they considerd expert, will bring about the desired result—an easy Stephen opposition in the battle for basketball honor. Manager Loucroft would not state just how he would start his lineup tonight, desiring to wait until he sees how the boys shape up in the work-out before naming his starting five.

Billy Wilson will be on hand to get the boys away at eight o'clock.

The Whalen A.C. and the Unities are down to appear in the preliminary game.

GETTING SIGNALS FAILS TO HELP MACK CLUB

Does it pay to get the battery signals of the opposition in baseball?

Danny Murphy, assistant to Connie Mack at Philadelphia, is the one best in the American league on the feature of play. ## Single Tube Reflex Set Takes Loud Speaker

BY ISRAEL KLEIN.

To get most out of a single tube, try the single tube reflex receiver. Here, with the use of a crystal detector and the vacuum tube amplifier, stations up to 500 miles can be brought in on a loud speaker. Even further distances can be obtained with the phones.

Use of a crystal for rectification in this connection has proved to be clearer than the vacuum tube, because of its freedom from oscillation and squeaking we get in regenerative receivers.

The parts for this set consist of:

- 1 audio-frequency transformer, ratio 4½ to 1
- 2 radio-frequency transformers for reflexing
- 1 tube socket
- 1 rheostat
- 2 variable condensers, 23 plate

1 phone jack
1 rubberized panel (about 8 inches by 10 inches)
1 wood base
1 wood base
5 binding posts
Bra wire.

Thus, without the tube, batteries and phone or loud speaker, the set should cost not more than $30.

Transformers

The radio transformers may be either made or bought. If bought, care should be taken that they are for reflexing. A kind that can be attached to the variable condensers can now be bought. The first transformer, at the left, is made as follows:

Get two formed cylinder forms 1½ inch thick, 2 inches long and 2½ inches in diameter. Drill two small mounting holes on each form, one hole on top and one on bottom, by which

BLIND MAN BUILDS RADIO SET

Blindness hasn't prevented Joseph Alonso of New York from enjoying radio as well as any fan in the country. Even to the point of building his own set. Yes, he built the one he shows here, and he's building more for other fans.

HOLYOKE COLLEGE BROADCAST TONIGHT

Of special interest to Lowell people who have daughters at Mt. Holyoke college, will be a broadcast this evening from station WBZ, Westinghouse, station at Springfield, of a group of numbers by students and faculty of the college. The college broadcast will begin at 6:30 o'clock and will continue through until 7:30 o'clock. Appearing with the students will be Anna Wollman, soprano; Milton J. Aronson, violinist; and William Churchill Hammond, pianist; all members of the college faculty.

Four more holes are drilled in each form, for the terminals, which may consist of switch points clamped down inside by hexagonal nuts. Terminals 1 and 3 are on top; 2 and 4 below. Two small holes are also made for the wires to pass through. These are near terminals 1 and 3.

Solder end of wire to terminal 3 and wind 60 turns of 28 single cotton single silk, or double cotton wire evenly and tightly and solder other end to terminal 4. Wrap a 1-inch strip of empire cloth around this winding, and then wind the primary winding on this. It consists of 16 turns. In the same direction as the larger secondary winding. The beginning is soldered to terminal No. 1 and the end to No. 2.

Then mount on condenser by attaching with short brass strips to the last form. Care in Mounting

The second radio frequency transformer is wound like the first, except that the top winding or primary coil consists of 35 turns. Be careful also that the second transformer is mounted at right angles to the first, and that both sets of transformer and condenser are placed at opposite ends of the panel, in order to reduce any inductive effect upon each other to a minimum.

The audio-frequency transformer should be placed at the back of the vacuum tube and crosswise, with the grid terminal near the left radio-frequency transformer and the plate terminal the other way. This makes each lead as short as possible. The rheostat should have a resistance of 20 ohms.

For Good Reception

Tube sockets with contact points as far apart as possible are best, because this helps to cut down the capacity between the grid and plate of the tube.

Another help for better reception is the use of a thin sheet of copper to back up the front panel. It eliminates body capacity and does away with much unnecessary wiring. If this is done, be sure to keep it from short circuiting the condenser shafts, and attach all ground and negative A battery connections directly to it.

Extreme care should be taken in wiring. Joints should be soldered carefully. Leads should be as short as possible. But all corners of the wiring should be at right angles.

The crystal detector may be any kind on the market, or one you can easily make yourself.

The tube heat suited for this set, it has been found, is the UV291-A, with a six-volt storage A battery or 4 dry cells in series. A UV123 tube might work just as well, with a tap off the second cell of the 6-volt A battery.

The B battery voltage may vary from 45 to 90 and even more.

Operation

To operate the set, first adjust the crystal detector by setting both dials at the same point and moving the detector control until a strong click is heard.

Slowly turn both dials, at about the same positions, until a station is heard. Then turn the grid variable condenser for stronger response and manipulate the crystal for better reception.

Keep a record of dial markings and the stations heard, to make tuning in easier later on.

Clarity and selectivity depend on proper crystal adjustment.

OSCILLATING CIRCUITS

NEW YORK, March 17.—Radio manufacturers are trying to educate fans into the use of non-oscillating hookups, to avoid local interference in reception. Major Edwin H. Armstrong, inventor of the regenerative circuit, suggests use of a stage of radio frequency as a "muffler."

CASOLVED RADIO MYSTERIES

Radio presents more mysteries than any other science; these, H. Gernsback, noted science writer, points to four outstanding phenomena that are still unsolved.

1. Fading—the dying out of a current for no apparent reason.

2. Dead Spots—areas in which certain transmitted signals cannot be heard.

3. Crystal Records—records of 100 to 1000 miles in reception made by crystal sets which ordinarily cannot receive more than 25 miles.

4. Body Capacity—referring to the effect a person's body has on the reception of a radio set, when he is close to it.

3000 MILES BY DAY
CHATHAM, Mass., March 17.—The long distance record for commercial radio transmission on 600 meters wavelength is claimed by Station WIM here. Messages sent from here were heard on a steamer 25 miles north of Wellington, New Zealand, or 3300 miles from Chatham. And by day, too.

LARGEST AUDIENCE

The record for entertaining the largest audience in the world by radio was made recently by the group of broadcasting stations that transmitted speeches from the Waldorf-Astoria in New York as far east as London, England, and as far west as San Francisco. Fifty millions, it is estimated, listened in.

RADIO CRITIC

The dramatic, movie and literary critics of newspapers are being joined by another—the radio critic. He listens in on many broadcast concerts as possible and criticizes them in the newspaper the next day.

ON SHORT WAVES

EAST PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 17.—Broadcasting station KDKA transmits regularly to England on the short wavelength of 34 meters, while at the same time concerts are being sent out to receivers in the United States and vicinity on the longer wavelength of 326 meters.

FOR BEST RESULTS

Two sets exactly alike in construction may not get the same results in reception. For highest efficiency, extreme care must be taken in tuning in, in use of the tubes and in the general co-ordination of all parts.

GERMANS LIMITED

Radio fans in Germany are limited to outside rentals only. At the same time they may have to pay luxury taxes if a bill now pending is passed.

ANOTHER AERIAL

If you have trouble tuning out a station to get another, try dropping a wire out of the window and using it in the place of the regular antenna. Try to make this wire at least 30 feet long.

SCORCHED POTATOES

When boiled potatoes burn, remove the pan from the fire and set instantly in a dish of cold water. In a very short time the potatoes may be removed from the scorched pan without sticking and by boiling a few minutes longer in a clean pan the scorched taste will be removed.

NAPOLEON RELICS TO BE SOLD AT AUCTION

PARIS, March 17.—The night shirt Napoleon wore on his deathbed, the glass from which he took his last drink, a piece of his coffin, a fragment of the railing of the tomb, and earth from the grave, are to be sold shortly at auction.

The relics were brought from St. Helena by Archambault, Napoleon's French groom, who, with one or two other personal servants, shared his exile. They were carefully and judiciously kept by Archambault's family, but circumstances now oblige the descendants to dispose of them.

At present, the relics are on exhibition in Matignon, Napoleon's country house near Paris, where he was first ennobled and converted into a Napoleonic museum.

SEN. WALSH RECOVERING

U. S. Senator Gerry of Rhode Island Purchases Paper to Be Democratic Organ

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 17.—John A. Hennessy of Brooklyn, president and editor of the Providence News, and James Carr Garrison of New York, vice-president and publisher, have sold their interest to Peter C. Gerry, United States senator from Rhode Island. It was announced today.

The news now will become a straight democratic party organ under new management. It has been independent with democratic tendencies.

Mr. Gerry, son of Commodore Elbridge T. Gerry of Newport and New York, is serving his second term as United States senator.

Mr. Hennessy was for 12 years managing editor of the New York Press before that property was sold to Frank A. Munsey. Mr. Garrison was one of the editors of the Press during the same period.

PRES. COOLIDGE'S ACTION SUBJECT OF DEBATE

WASHINGTON, March 17.—President Coolidge's action in cutting short Saturday a program of addresses at his reception to the Oberammergau Passion Players brought an explanation from the White House today and stirred up a debate in the Senate.

In a letter to Anton Lang, the "christus" of the players, Mr. Coolidge expressed pleasure that the visitors had come to the White House and set forth that the only reason for the incident was the fact that it is not permissible for the president to receive public addresses from people of other nations except through diplomatic channels.

The incident was taken up in the Senate by Senator Bill, democrat of Washington, who said he regretted that the president "had not taken a broader and more human view of the delegation's plea in behalf of suffering German children."

WILL ARGUE MANDAMUS ACTION TOMORROW

The mandamus action brought by William W. Bennett, principal of the Charles W. Morris grammar school against the Lowell school committee, by which he seeks to be reinstated as master of the Greenwich evening grammar school, will be argued tomorrow before a single justice of the supreme court in Boston. The school committee will be represented by Solicitor P. J. Reynolds, with John M. Donoghue appearing for Mr. Bennett.

CANNOT INSPECT BOOKS OF CORPORATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The federal trade commission has no authority to inspect the books, papers and correspondence of corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Congress had no intent, the court said, to confer upon the commission visitatorial powers to inspect without limitation any records and correspondence of corporations doing an interstate business.

ONE FOUR-YEAR TERM FOR PRESIDENT REJECTED

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The Senate refused today by a vote of 70 to 3 to approve proposed constitutional amendment limiting the president to one term of four years.

WAR SEC. SERRANO CHANGES COURSE

MEXICO CITY, March 17.—(By the Associated Press)—War Secretary Serrano, en route to Salina Cruz, with an expeditionary force, has changed his course, proceeding to Acapulco as a result of the reported capture of that port by rebels under Caudillo Aguilar, according to information given out by the war department. He is expected to reoccupy the place without difficulty.

U. S. REJECTS FRENCH SUGGESTION

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The United States in a formal note to Ambassador Jasseron, made public today by the state department, rejects the suggestion of the French government for the creation of an international agency to deal with questions arising out of relief credits extended to European countries during and just after the world war.

Two Reports Presented to House Today by Ways and Means Committee

Senate Oil Committee Expected Tomorrow to Enter Upon Last Phases of Work

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Two reports of the soldier bonus bill were presented to the house today by the ways and means committee. Four republicans, signing a minority statement opposing the measure.

Chairman Green, in the majority report, stated that expenditures under the bill, estimated at $2,119,000,000, could be met from prospective savings in current government expenses and called for additional taxes.

The minority statement, signed by Representatives Treadway, Massachusetts; Wilson, Connecticut; Watson, Pennsylvania, and Mills, New York, declared if the bill were enacted its requirements threatened the likelihood of future tax reductions.

Provisions for passage of the measure tomorrow were declared bright to day by proponents. A two-thirds vote is necessary, since the bill will come up under suspension of the rules which also limits debate and prevents amendments.

Explaining provisions of the bill allowing cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 and paid-up life insurance policies to others, Mr. Green argued that it "confers substantial benefit upon the soldiers, is based on economically sound principles and can be paid for without embarrassing the treasury," and he estimated that the average value of the insurance policies would be about $962.

Mt. Holyoke College Alumnae Celebrates Two Important Events Tonight

His 12th Riding Accident is Made Text of Editorial Homilies in London Papers

LONDON, March 17.—The Prince of Wales' 12th riding accident in which he was thrown while participating in the trials at Athorpefield, Saturday, is made the text of editorial homilies addressed to his royal highness by several of today's newspapers which tell him that the people are very much concerned over the manner in which he continues to risk his life. The writers remind him that he is not a private person, but a national asset and say that although he is fully entitled to reservation, especially in view of the hearty and thorough way in which he performs his public duties, it is time he imposed restraint on his plucky spirits.

All the comments are framed in the kindest tone, expressing anxiety for his safety, except that of the laborist newspaper, the Daily Herald, which intimates that Wales spends his days hunting and sheep-chasing and his nights dancing, and adds that it is time he took life more seriously and devoted his energies to occupations more worth while.

MAN HELD AS FUGITIVE MAIL ROBBER

GREENVILLE, Ky., March 17.—A man believed by Muhlenberg county officials to be Gerald Chapman, escaped convict from the federal prison at Atlanta, where he was serving a 25-year sentence for a mail robbery in New York, was held today for federal authorities.

Chapman was arrested at Dayton, by Sheriff C. P. Shaver, who had been watching him since soon after his arrival in Central City, 10 days ago.

The prisoner said his name was Charles Chapman, but denied that he was the man wanted. He has admitted a prison record, and according to Deputy U. S. Pace, his appearance matches closely with that of the fugitive mail robber.

A. E. GRANGE CONFERENCE

BOSTON, March 17.—State Grange lecturers of New England meeting here have agreed upon August 28, 29 and 30, as the dates for the annual New England Grange conference which is to be held at the University of New Hampshire. The grange lecturers each year make the trip by automobile to the conference which is held in rotation through the New England states.

As in the Tea Pot suit, the government's special counsel, Atlee Paine and Owen J. Roberts, asked the United States district court to issue a temporary injunction stopping the production of oil, appoint receivers to take possession and control of the oil lands, and to enter a final decree declaring void and canceling the lease and associated arrangements.

The Pan American Petroleum & Transport Co. and its subsidiary, the Pan American Petroleum Co., were made defendants in the action, and L. Johnson, president of the oil company and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, are charged in the bill with conspiracy to defraud the United States for the private gain of said Fall and of defendants, for whom said Johnson acted.

For the creation of certain rights in the defendants, Fall was to receive rewards from said Johnson, the bill avers, adding that the payment in full of $100,000 by Johnson in November, 1921, was "that certain reward therefore promised."

EX-CROWN PRINCE NOW SALESMAN

LONDON, March 17.—The former German crown prince has set up a farm machinery salesman, now known as the son of his brother, Ernst Frederick, at Potsdam, with his wife and family, according to the Daily Mail.

Moved by Frederick Willhelm's plea that his fortune has suffered through the fall of the mark, the government gave him permission to go to Berlin to seek employment.

declared his wife had sold the stock before the Tea Pot Dome lease was completed.

Mr. Stevenson declared he was justified in inferring from other testimony offered by Mr. Roosevelt that the stock was sold after the lease was consummated. He declared, however, that he had accepted the statement made Saturday by Representative Longworth, the republican leader, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. Roosevelt.

Longworth, the republican leader, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. Roosevelt, that this was not the case.

OXFORD, March 17.—A high wind that carried showers of sparks and blazing embers from a nearby burning frame building into the large lumber yard that surrounds the big Chaffee yard here today necessitated a call to Worcester and Webster fire departments for help.

HIGH WINDS LISTERING IN

WOONSOCKET, R. I., March 17.—Gertie Clark, 18, of Mansfield, died this morning while "listering in" to the radio. Miss Clark had been ailing for some time but apparently was feeling fairly well. She had been listenting in but a short time when she spoke to a member of her family, rested her head on the table and expired.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 17.—Stock prices developed a reactionary tone at the opening of today's stock market on a resumption of short selling by professional interests. Selling orders were well distributed, most of the standard industrials and specialized trading fractionally. Railroads offered more stubborn resistance to pressure. Early losses were extended as selling pressure increased and buying support was withheld except at concessions from last week's strong levies. The Pan-American stocks, dromedary, and copper, were particularly divided, from $2.10 to $2.15. Unfavorable dividends of unfavorable dividend action were responsible for the weakness of Pabco Products, which dropped 14¢. New 1924 lows were established by Crucible Steel, Kelly Springfield and Stewart-Arden, and DuPont to 2 points. Republic Steel, and U. S. Steel were heavy. A few issues moved against the current trend, notably General Electric, Coca Cola, National Lead and Madison Silk, all up a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened irregularly.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 16

Jack was very interested as the hermit hacked a small limb from a nearby tree. "Now," said the whitter, as he sat down on a log, "it's easy to make things with a knife if you take your time." And while he talked he proceeded to shape out the bottom of a small sail boat.

Chip by chip went flying into the air as the hermit wielded his knife. Soon the little sail boat took real shape and Jack then took out his own knife and started making the sail masts. By the time the boat was carved out the masts were ready and the hermit stuck them into place.

"Quite a fine boat!" laughed the hermit as he held it up in his hand. Then he took out a handkerchief, ripped it in two pieces and made two very fine sails. "She's ready now," said the old man, and with that he led the way to the water and set the boat afloat. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

-by Olive Roberts Barton

THE BEANSTALK SCARECROW

"I'M THE SCARECROW OF BEANSTALK LAND!"

"Would you mind taking your foot out of my eye?" asked a voice suddenly.

Nancy and Nick were surprised they nearly fell off the top of the beanstalk, up which they had just climbed.

"Who are you?" called Nancy. "Who is talking?"

"I'm the Scarecrow of Beanstalk Land," said the strawack. "And you are sticking your toes into all sorts of places. When you were climbing up my ribs, you tickled me so I was afraid I would shake you off with my shivering. But one thing I must speak about, and that is my eyes. If you put them out I can't watch for the crows. True, my eyes are only made of corn cobs, as are also my nose and mouth, but they are all the more likely to fall out."

The Twins were amazed to think that they had climbed all the way to the top of such an important person without knowing it. Who would ever dream of a scarecrow being as high as the park monument?

"We're awfully sorry," apologized Nick. "We'll get down at once."

"No, don't, please," begged the scarecrow. "I love to have company, even if they sit on my head. I get so lonely out here in the field with nobody to talk to. You've no idea what
